Nazi-Nip War Axis Rocking With New Portents Of Doom

Interpretation By
Kirke L. Simpson
Wide World War Analyst

The Nazi-Nipponese war axis was rocking with new portents of approaching doom this October weekend. From fallen Aachen in Germany to MacArthur's return to the Philippines beachheads on Leyte, from Russian advance lines on German soil in East Prussia to the Nazi-led Balkan peninsula, from the newly collapsing Nazi mountain ramparts against Italy's vast Po valley to the Red army's inundated plains of Hungary, and even in far away Burma and the strategic Nicobar Islands in the Bay of Bengal the Axis was crumbling. The United Nations were closing in for the double kill.

That was the black prospect from which German and Japanese war lords alike took heart. From that they believed their only hope lay in a desperate attempt to turn the tide of the war. It could be done, they felt, by a last-ditch appeal to the German people to defend their land and the Japanese to defend their islands. They hoped to win back the initiative and to turn the tide of the war. It could be done, they felt, by a last-ditch appeal to the German people to defend their land and the Japanese to defend their islands.

PARENTS' ROLE TOPIC AT P.-T. A.

Central Grammar Holds Interesting Meeting On Wednesday

The Central Grammar P.-T. A. met Wednesday in the school auditorium with the president, Mrs. Frank Patterson, presiding. After a prayer and pledge to the flag, the minutes of the last meeting were read and approved. Mrs. Barney Rowe is secretary.

Mrs. Patterson stated that the Twin City Council has certain requirements for the P.-T. A. to maintain and that a certain number of points determine the status of a group. She said she wanted the Central P.-T. A. to fulfill all requirements and present a perfect record.

Mrs. Mary Honke, publication chairman, urged all mothers to buy the P.-T. A. magazine and Mrs. Patterson urged that all present endeavor to aid in the drive for more members.

A committee was named to draw up by-laws for the group. Of this committee, Mrs. Katherine Key is chairman, and other members are Mrs. Barney Rowe and Mrs. G. D. Bell.

Mrs. J. E. Clark was appointed liaison for the Central Grammar School P.-T. A. and Mrs. L. B. Morgan was named scrap book chairman. The treasurer's report was read by Mrs. Shirley Courtney and accepted.

The 2-A grade of Mrs. Edith McCoy and the 3-A grade of Mrs. Elizabeth Johnston tied for the attendance score.

Mrs. Key stated that the teachers were asked to state what they expected of the parents. She stated that a child should not be emotionally upset before leaving home in the morning. She stated that the child needs to feel wanted and needed in the home and must be made to feel that he is of importance. The child needs, she assured, the best of management of wholesome nature and must have a stable balanced frame of mind if he is to become a first class citizen and get the most out of his studies which must be character, building and education to lay the foundation structure for future life. Mrs. Key said.

Following her talk, Miss Key introduced Miss Kate Henry who stated that a girl child does not know what she had better be kept at home. She urged cooperation of parents and teachers to achieve the best results.

Miss Edith McCoy exclaimed that children should be in bed early and that at the very least 9 p.m. should be the deadline. No more late night strolls during the week were suggested as they were said to distract from studies. Also she suggested that pictures be taken of the growing child should be seen by them.

Mrs. Johnston stated that children should share the same feeling that they should be assigned little jobs and that they should be expected to carry them out well and promptly.

Mrs. E. N. Maroney stated that parents should show a greater interest and enthusiasm for the child and his school work. The meeting ended after all teachers had expressed their views on the way parents should serve their children and cooperate with their teachers.

path within Germany itself in hope of a softer peace than unconditional surrender somehow could be gained. It was a self-serving plea, for unconditional surrender means surrender of Hitler and the arch criminals of Nazism, if they survive, to justice.

Japanese official desperation was no apparent in faked claims of a decisive naval victory over raiding American forces deep in Japan's home waters off Formosa. Invasion of the Philippines had been warded off for months, the Tokyo radio chanted, spurring thus to hide from the home front the blow dealt Japanese air and sea power.

A fraudulent day of rejoicing was held in Japan. Yet the words were more than spoken than the Stars and Stripes were flying again over the Philippines. MacArthur, with his men, set foot again in the islands to redeem his promise of return, this time to stay until his liberation task is done.

There was a startling about face on Japanese radio waves. They yammered now that the battle of decision was impending in the Philippines. There were no effort to reduce the volume of reports. Evenly confusion and dismay was apparent in utterly contrasting Tokyo and Manila versions of the invasion that went to confirm General MacArthur's announcement that the foe had been caught napping.

In Europe, meanwhile, Russian and Allied forces were obviously preparing new major blows from east, west and south regardless of the close onset of winter. American capture of Aachen and Canadian mopping-up on the Scheldt estuary banks in Holland justified Nazi expectation of a coming major Allied power attack on that flank in the west. Southward American and French elements of General Eisenhower's vast force inched their way through passes and Nazi defenses guarding the upper Rhine.

In Hungary Russian columns closed in steadily on siege-threatened and anti-Nazi revolt torn Budapest to make factually good Hitler's whining notice to his people that Germany now is left to fight alone.

"I was at work in the office," she related. "I looked out the window just at the moment the first explosion came. The fire apparently started in one of the large liquid gas storage tanks. I don't know what it was, but I did not see any one around the tank at the time. The whole area was turned into a holocaust before you could snap your finger, it happened so quickly."

East Ohio spokesmen said they were "completely at a loss" as to the probable cause.

Many bodies recovered today were found in or near the wreckage of the East Ohio plant. Company officials estimated a lot of more than 50 employees still missing.

Three of five large gas storage tanks still were intact 24 hours after yesterday's explosion.

Fire Chief James E. Grouger said insurance adjusters had set the combined estimate of property damage, including plant, pipelines, business establishments and homes at $15,000,000. Preliminary estimates from the company and other sources had placed the figure at more than $10,000,000.

SURRENDER

German wounded. The rest of the captured troops walked out of Aachen in long, melancholy columns of four.

By dark last night this outfit had fought forward to within three blocks of the bunker, going down into smashed cellars and basements with flashlights to root out the Germans. This morning streams of fire sealed off the bunker's exits and entrances.

The German commander was cut off and done for, and at 10:55 a. m. out he came. Two of his officers walked behind the two enlisted men the Germans had captured a few days ago.

By Don Whitehead

AACHEN, Oct. 21.—(AP)—Eight hundred Germans, the remnants of the Aachen garrison, surrendered unconditionally today, and all organized resistance ended in the city and its suburbs.

The last defenders, who had been ordered by Hitler to fight to the death, laid down their arms at noon after savage doughboy attacks had hammered them into traps from which there was no escape.

A dramatic silence suddenly fell over the shell of a city as the guns became quiet for the first time in days.

Capt. Seth Botts, former University of Kentucky engineering student, was preparing to launch an assault on a bunker where the German remnants had a command post when the enemy decided to surrender and hung out a white flag.

Botts and his troops had closed in on the bunker last night, fighting through houses by flashlight in one of the weirdest combats of the war.

Out of the bunker came a slender, dapper colonel at the head of 200 troops. They marched smartly in column under the guard of Botts. The men and officers were all well groomed, with shining black boots.

With them was an American lieutenant and 32 enlisted men who had been held captive by the Germans for the past week.

The German commander was taken to an command post of Lt. Col. J. M. Collins, of Brookston, N. Y., in one of Aachen's wrecked buildings.

There an American brigadier general wanted to receive the commander, who was told he must surrender unconditionally.

Reluctantly the officer wrote out the surrender of his troops and ended the document by saying "Aachen is in American hands and therefore everything belongs to the Americans that was German."

But when the silver-haired American general had the surrender translated he was not satisfied because it did not say unconditional.

The German officer, a professional soldier for 28 years, asked for five minutes to think it over. He said his reluctance was caused by the fact that if he signed unconditional surrender terms he was afraid for his family in Germany.

There was silence in the little room as the German pondered with the Americans watching him intently.

Finally the German colonel turned picked up the pen and hurriedly wrote another document. This time he said: "Aachen—The defending German garrison ran out of food and ammunition. I am forced to give up my command and surrender Aachen unconditionally with all its stores to the commanding officer of the victorious Americans."

The translation was made by Pfc. Sigurd M. Ekis, Washington, D. C., who was acting as interpreter.

The surrender was signed at noon. Then the colonel asked and was granted permission to speak to his troops outside the building.

There were eight staff officers with him, all as immaculate as their commander. One of them had been a student at Heidelberg and there were the scars of duelling foils on his face.

The commander climbed onto the hood of a jeep. His men came to attention. And in a voice heavy with emotion he said to them:

"Dear German soldiers. I am speaking to you at a painful moment. I was forced to surrender because we ran out of ammunition, food and water."

"I saw that further fighting was useless. I was acting against orders. I was supposed to fight to the last man. At this time I have to remind you that you are still German soldiers. Please behave as such."

"I also wish you the best of health in your future travels and fast return to the Fatherland after hostilities have ended. Return to Germany to help rebuild our country."

"It was refused by the Americans to give the Sieg Heil and Heil Hitler. But we can still do it in our minds."

Then he saluted smartly and stepped down. He was taken under guard to the prison cage in the rear.

Other strongpoints, unaware their commanding officer had put up the white flag fought on.

A party was sent by Botts with a lieutenant under a white truce to arrange the capitulation of the others.

Another 200 surrendered en masse when it was explained that their commander had decided to quit fighting and that they were no longer bound to continue the futile struggle.

And then the others came out of their hiding places in small groups until 800 were trudging through Aachen's battered streets.

After the surrender was completed a high ranking officer came to the American command post and congratulated the commander of the operation along with Corley and Lt. Col. Derril Daniel of Geneva, N. Y. He grinned and said, "Well, this war is over, isn't it?"

NAZI DISOBEYS

since the Americans issued their unconditional surrender ultimatum to Aachen 10 days ago, American casualties during the subsequent all-out assault and house-to-house rooting out of the stubborn Nazis were declared officially to be relatively light.

The German colonel, Gebhardt Wilck, made a theatrical show of his capitulation, marching his men out in perfect order in their best uniforms and with highly polished boots. He first signed a paper omitting the unconditional surrender requirement.

Colonel Wilck, after some soul-searching, drew up and signed a new document of unconditional surrender, which he blamed on lack of ammunition and food. He explained that he had hesitated for fear of reprisals against his family in Germany because he was disobeying his fuhrer's express orders to die on the spot.

Later in a prisoner enclosure he wept without restraint.

Surrender of the rubble heap that is Aachen, leaving the Americans free to prosecute a drive towards Cologne, 40 miles past the important road junction town of Wustwezel, 13 miles northeast of Antwerp on the road to Breda, Canadian spearheads were approximately parallel on two roads leading north to Eschen and Roosen-dael.

British infantry operating under Canadian First army command made roughly the same rate of advance on the left flank beyond Calmpouth, on the right flank a combat group reached past Maria Ter Heide four miles.

Antwerp, one of the few continental ports taken by the Allies in usable condition, has been effectively blocked for weeks by Germans on both sides of its approach up the Scheldt estuary from the North sea.

The Germans on the south bank of this estuary were being steadily compressed into a smaller pocket. They were withdrawing into a roughly four-sided area of about 20 square miles bounded by the North sea and the towns of Drenkens, Oostburg and Cadzand.

The Canadians were linking up their forces above the Leopold canal and generally consolidating their positions in preparation for a final assault on that defense area.

While no effective resistance had yet been met in any of these operations, it was slow going against machine gun fire, mortars and minefields in watery and wooded country. Infantry and armor had to slog through the mud and clean small pockets of Germans out of virtually every thicket.

The Canadian force investing the port of Dunkerque had a flurry of action when the German garrison sallied out and overran a forward position, only to be driven back with losses.

On the American Third army front around Metz and Nancy, there was sporadic shelling, with American artillery particularly seeking to knock out an 11-inch gun with which the Germans have been harassing Lt. Gen. George S. Patton's men for weeks.

Allied planes Friday broke a hole in the 800-foot earthen dam on Lake Etang de Landrev, 25 miles northeast of Nancy, and by noon Saturday the waters of the Seille river had spread out for miles across enemy communications lines fronting the Third army.

There and also on the Vosges mountain front held by the American Seventh and French First armies, there was little or no change in positions, with some sectors taking on the look of barbed-wire appearance of World War days, complete with mud.

What is Wrong When Prayer Fails?

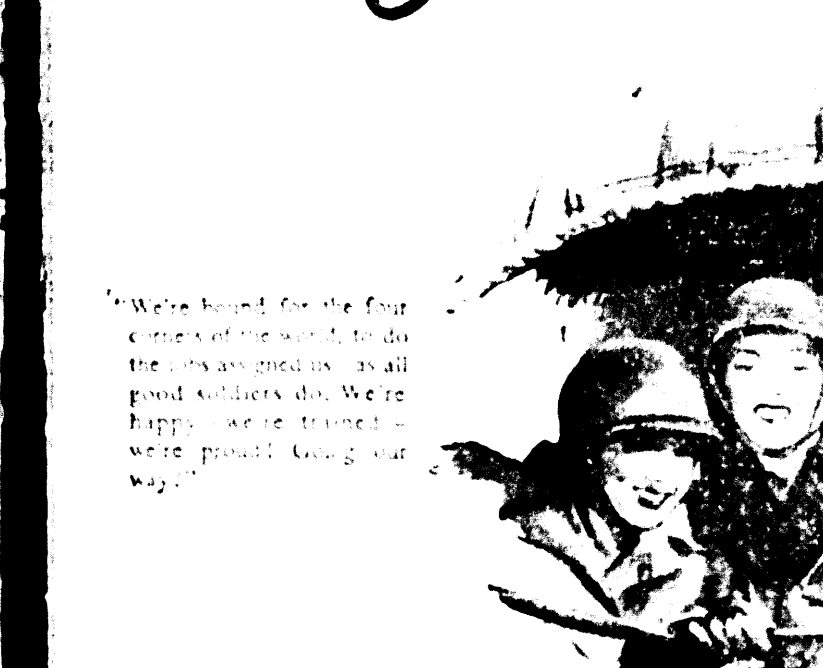

Thirty years ago, in Forbidden Tibet, behind the highest mountains in the world, a young Englishman named Edwin J. Dingle found the answer to this question. A great mystic opened his eyes. A great change came over him. He realized the strange Power that Knowledge gives.

That Power, he said, can transform the life of anyone. Questions, whatever they are, can be answered. The problems of health, death, poverty and wrong, can be solved.

In his own case, he was brought back to splendid health. He acquired wealth, too, as well as world-wide professional recognition. Thirty years ago, he was sick as a man could be and live. Once his affliction was brought to a close, he found himself a man of power, health, wealth, and happiness.

He was about to be sent back to England to do what a young man might do, a young man going for the first time to Tibet. He was to tell what he had found there, under the high peaks of the Himalayas.

"Going our way?"

"Going my way?"

"I've received and transmitted hundreds of radio messages from combat planes. I am living the proudest moments of my life! Going my way!"

A Russian reconnaissance plane, however, reported that the Russians and Red Army were fighting stubbornly against the Germans near Szolnok, only 100 miles from the capital, after crossing the Danube and taking a natural defense line.

The Danube is a major waterway in the region, and its control is of great importance.

power" and "stern punishment" for war leaders responsible for the tragedy of mankind.

He asserted also that the administration had no constitutional secret commitments in foreign relations.

"After my return from Teheran," Mr. Roosevelt said, "I stated officially that no secret commitments had been made. The issue then is between my veracity and the continuing assertion of those who have no responsibility in the foreign field."

After the end of a week when the millions of votes New York City will cast November 7, the president will point his finger at the isolationist bloc in the Senate and demand that it support the policy of the American people.

Mr. Roosevelt asserted that the American people had agreed that we were still not at war with the Nazis, and that we must remain a land of open, secret, and honest government.

German people, he said, will not be deceived, but there will be stern punishment for those who are directly responsible for the tragedy of mankind.

Thus, apparently, the chief executive gave his answer to those who continued in a speech last Wednesday that the administration had no plan for dealing with Germany, and that this had resulted in the shedding of American blood.

The president said he was not talking with isolationist groups, but that he was speaking with the American people.

He added solemnly that he believed that the end of the last war, and still believe now, that mankind will never have to suffer unless America continues in winning and maintaining it.

Words, the said, must be backed with the deed.

Amplifying that point a bit later the president said:

"The Council of the United Nations must have the power to act quickly and decisively to keep the peace by force if necessary. A policeman would not be a very effective policeman if, when he saw a felon break into a house, he had to go to the town hall and call a town meeting to issue a warrant before the felon could be arrested."

It is clear, he asserted, that if a world organization is to have real power, its representatives must be endowed in advance by the people themselves with constitutional trusts through their representatives in the Congress with authority to act.

The chief executive said he was speaking honestly and going by the record in declaring that a majority of Republican members of Congress voted against Selective Service in 1940, repeal of the arms embargo in 1939, lend-lease in 1941 and extension of Selective Service four months before Pearl Harbor.

If Republicans were to win control of Congress in the coming election, the president said, "they would be in a position to provide the commanding influence and power."

He listed some as:

Senator Gerald P. Nye, whom he described as one of the most influland. MacArthur's chief of staff, and Lt. Gen. George C. Kenney, MacArthur's air chief.

Tacloban airfield fell to the First Cavalry division which is battling on the outskirts of Tacloban.

At one point on his inspection tour, MacArthur's jeep bogged down in the mud and he waited calmly while it was dug out.

MacArthur and Kenney gave close inspection to the airfield.

MacArthur's grim warning was made when he gave a speech at the end of the inspection tour, in which he said that the Japanese 16th division which, after the surrender of Batavia in the forefront of 1942, forced the bedraggled survivors to make the ghastly "death march."

MacArthur addressed his warning to "the commander in chief of Japanese military forces in the Philippines, Field Marshal Count Terauchi."

The general said the surrender of American and Filipino forces in previous campaigns in the Philippines were made in full reliance that they would be afforded the dignity, honor and protection provided by the rules and custom of war.

William Dickinson, in a pool press-release, said it was revealed at headquarters today that 83 American officers and men who had been prisoners of war for an average of one-half year were rescued several weeks ago.

Two of the men, Lt. Richard L. Cook, of Los Angeles, and S. Sgt. Joseph Cole of Platts, Ala., elected to stay with the Philippine guerrillas.

All the others are now safe in hospitals in New Guinea. They are in good condition except five who are recovering from bullet and grenade wounds. None are in serious condition.

They were among American prisoners being shipped north when the Japanese transport was sunk by an American submarine. At least two other enemy ships were sunk in the attack.

Other Americans who escaped the sinking craft were hunted down and killed in the water as they swam. Some who got to the beach were picked up by the Japanese and executed.

The 83 missing Americans were picked up and cared for by Filipino guerrillas.

The invasion is progressing on schedule, MacArthur said.

Although Tacloban airfield was being repaired, because of its condition General Kenney directed attention to another about to fall to invasion forces around Davao, 20 miles south of Tacloban.

tial members of the Foreign Relations committee. He said the North Dakota senator would become also chairman of the Appropriations committee.

Representative Joseph W. Martin, who would be in line for speaker of the House, was reported by Mr. Roosevelt as having balloted against arms embargo repeal, lend-lease, Selective Service extension, arming of merchant ships and reciprocal trade agreements.

"The chairman of the powerful Committee on Rules," he added, "would be none other than Hamilton Fish."

There are many others like these in Congress, he added, and every one of them now is campaigning actively for the Republican ticket.

While admitting that there have been isolationist Democrats, Mr. Roosevelt said they had been few and far between and had not obtained positions of leadership.

"And I am proud of the fact," he went on, "that this administration does not have the support of the isolationist press—and I mean specifically the McCormick-Patterson-Hearst-Gannett press."

At another point, Mr. Roosevelt said that "one of the leading isolationists who killed international cooperation in 1929 was Senator Hiram Johnson."

the Californian who would become foreign relations chairman in the event of a Republican victory.

"I know," he said, "the American voters will bear that in mind."

Again in historical vein, the president said that "the heavy hands of isolationism" dominated foreign policy of Republican administrations after 1923. Much of the navy's strength was scuttled, he said, and, as in the Teapot Dome case, some navy resources were "handed over to friends in private industry."

Tariff walls were raised, blocking international trade, he asserted, and there was snarling at former Allies and encouragement to American investment of $2,500,000,000 in Germany.

Petitions for America to join the world court, he said, were rejected or ignored.

Answering Republican campaign doctrine, Mr. Roosevelt said the American people know he and Secretary Hull are thoroughly conversant with the Constitution and know that the two of them can't commit America to any unconstitutional secret treaties or guarantees.

African tribes used to rub mud and paint into open sores so that they would swell and form permanent ulcers.

record of its proceedings. Forrestal made public a letter to Murfin saying he would ask Admiral Ernest J. King, the fleet commander-in-chief, to review the report and proceedings "with a view to determining how much thereof bears such a relation to present military operations as to require that it be accorded these high security classifications."

Representative Cole, Republican, New York, one of those who has urged that the facts concerning Pearl Harbor be made public before the election, told reporters he thought Forrestal was following the proper procedure in submitting the report to King.

Cole, a member of the house naval affairs committee, commented, however, that he did not see how it could have major security importance now unless there was information in it which would shake the morale of navy men and their confidence in their leaders.

In Boston, an attorney for Rear Admiral Husband E. Kimmel, navy commander at Pearl Harbor who was recalled from active duty after the disaster, asserted that Forrestal's "suggested procedure is a specious pretext to keep the truth of Pearl Harbor hidden" until after the election.

The attorney, Charles B. Rugg, added in a statement that presumably the report "places the responsibility for the Pearl Harbor catastrophe," and said Kimmel "is entitled to hear the verdict of the report promptly."

Maas and other Republicans have contended that a full report on Pearl Harbor show that responsibility for the Japanese success extended into high places in Washington.

FIVE KILLED, 100 INJURED IN BLAST
LOS ANGELES, Oct. 21.—(P)—The navy announced tonight that at least five men were killed and more than 100 injured, some critically, when a landing vessel was shattered today by an explosion which set fire to three similar craft and spread to a dock.

Two hours after the blast, which occurred at Los Angeles Harbor, the fire was still being battled by city firemen and coast guard and naval equipment. A navy spokesman said it was believed nearly under control, but that a considerable quantity of trucks, bull dozers and other equipment which had been standing on the dock, had been damaged.

More than a dozen ambulances removed the injured to the Long Beach Naval Hospital and others in the harbor district. The navy did not disclose the identities of the dead.

Harry Ready, proprietor of a waterfront cafe, said the odor of gasoline had been noticeable during the day, and speculated that fuel might have collected under the dock. He said at least 50 men leaped from two of the landing craft after the explosion.

The dock was immediately cleared of all vessels, and the harbor closed to commercial traffic.

A navy spokesman said five bodies had been recovered, all believed navy personnel. There may be others, he added, and some of the injured were not expected to live.

2 BARKSDALE PLANES IN CRASH LANDINGS

SHREVEPORT, La., Oct. 21.—(P)—Two planes on routine training flights from Barksdale Field were forced to make crash landings during the evening of Friday, causing injury to but one airman while 11 others remained unhurt.

Cpl. Robert K. Engstrom, 21, was injured when he was thrown against the side of the B-26 Marauder bomber which had to make a "belly" landing about 8:20 p. m. at the municipal airport Friday after one of the motors caught fire. The nose of the plane was torn off and one motor was blown about 10 feet from the bomber during the landing. The runway was blocked off during the night because gasoline had been thrown over a wide area during the accident.

Second Lt. D. P. Langhoff, pilot of the second bomber which crashed landed about 20 p. m. in an open plowed field on the Boone plantation, was highly commended by Lieutenant Colonel Bowen, director of operations, for his handling of the bomber during the landing. He and his crew escaped injury. Lieutenant Langhoff was forced to land when his right motor cut out at about 500 feet.

GOVERNMENT IN GUATEMALA OUSTED

GUATEMALA CITY, Oct. 21.—(P)—Crowds in Guatemala's capital sacked the homes of former President Jorge Ubico and former Chief of Secret Police Jose Bernabe Linarez, as unrest continued today after a 12-hour revolution in which more than 1,000 persons were wounded and the government of Acting President Gen. Federico Ponce overthrown.

The number slain was not immediately known. Wounded were given medical attention by the Red Cross and at private hospitals.

Control of the government was in the hands of a triumvirate of two young officers and a civilian, leaders of youthful officers and university students who precipitated the revolution. There was no indication of a counter-revolutionary attempt.

Former President Ubico, who had been accused of continuing control of Guatemala through his successor, General Ponce, was reported already escaped injury. Lieutenant Langhoff was forced to land when his right motor cut out at about 500 feet.

out of the country, en route to New Orleans. The chief of secret police took refuge in the Peruvian embassy.

Acting President Ponce, now interned in the Mexican embassy, surrendered yesterday with his cabinet and other high officials after the revolutionaries, armed with modern weapons and tanks, blew up the fort of San Jose and Matamoros and threatened destruction of the national palace.

The new regime is headed by Maj. Francisco Javier Arana, 32; Capt. Jacobo Arbenz, 28; and Jorge Toriello, civilian. The triumvirate began today forming a cabinet.

LOCAL USO HAS SERVED NEEDS

Affords Opportunity For Community Groups To Get Together

USO provides an opportunity for different community groups—religious, social, and economic—to participate in activities for men and women in the services and for those in war production areas.

Thousands of volunteers, representing a cross section of the American people are recruited and trained to serve both military and war production groups in USO programs. United in a common purpose and working in accordance with democratic procedures, these volunteers are doing their share to make democracy a reality.

The Monroe USO Club enjoys the reputation of being one of the best in the country, and is known far and wide for the loyal, patriotic men and women who serve as volunteers, and who have worked devotedly for its achievement. To compensate these people for their services would be impossible, but in order to acknowledge and recognize their unselfish whole-hearted support, pins and certificates will be awarded by Mrs. Maurice T. Moore, chairman of the National USO Council, when she addresses the volunteers at a rally at the USO Club on Monday night. The Ouachita Parish Council, USO, extends to the public a cordial welcome to attend.

Plan to do your shopping Monday when the stock of the home is out of the way, as the war effort is being carried on with dry goods.

E. LOUISIANA HOSPITAL STAFF CARRIES ON DESPITE HANDICAP

Improved Methods Employed In Face Of Woeful Lack Of Facilities

(This is another of a series of articles on conditions at Louisiana's institutions. Facts contained herein were obtained on a tour of institutions shortly before Claude Harrison, of Monroe, resigned as director of institutions on October 1.)

By George V. Lofton

The East Louisiana State Hospital at Jackson is one of the state's institutions about which thousands of words could be written to describe conditions there. Many of these words would describe facilities which are most shameful—in some instances, revolting. Other words would tell of strides which the staff has made during the past two years against overwhelming odds. Improvements in methods when funds were not available for improvement of facilities.

Thanks to the last session of the state legislature, which was convinced by Claude Harrison that conditions at Jackson are a disgrace to the state, a new day is about to dawn for the hospital. The legislature set aside $2,000,000 in funds to be expended for capital outlay in 1944-45. That won't rebuild the Jackson institution, but it will replace many of the buildings in which mentally deranged persons are now sleeping—and some of the buildings are 97 years old. And those who have worked untiringly for several years to obtain money enough to make a new start on an insane asylum that has been sadly neglected see a much brighter future when materials are available for rebuilding.

Much can be written about the danger of locking hundreds of persons in wooden buildings which could burn to the ground in incredible time, taking a horrible toll of life; much can be written, for instance, about the "untidy ward" which houses insane persons who have no control over their habits, where the filth has soaked into the wooden floors until the stench is unbearable. These conditions will be detailed in a subsequent article. Today, however, we give to discuss improvements in the methods of treatment of patients which have resulted in much quicker rehabilitation of many men and women of the state.

The Department of Institutions has for three years been attempting to find qualified psychiatric social workers for the state mental hospitals. On July 15, 1944, a hospital intake interview with a working knowledge of psychiatric social work was given at East Louisiana State Hospital and a Social Service Department was established. The duties of this employee are:

1. Secure by interview and correspondence a history of the patient's social adjustment.
2. Give this information to the physician in social history, to the physician.

Discharge has not policies for the patients, their families and the public.

3. Contact and maintain contact with patients and all agencies in the state.

4. Investigate home conditions of patients, attempt to bring the family and home up to date during the stay.

5. Answer all correspondence of social nature concerning the patient.

6. Keep careful record of work done.

The first duty is made much easier by a relative who accompanies the patient on his admission to the hospital. The relative who the patient comes only with a doctor or a nurse, social relatives, begins immediately. After making procedure in the best interests of the patient, it was decided that no form letter of inquiry should be sent, but a personal letter should be written in each case. Various facts must be known in each form of mental illness and a great many more details are needed in some cases than in others. With this letter also goes a brief statement of hospital policy as to visiting clothes and other personal matters. In some cases, letters have been written before adequate medical history is secured. Occasionally another social agency such as Charity Hospital, De Paul Sanitarium or the Department of Public Welfare has already secured some social history on a case.

The interpretation of the psychiatricists to patients and their families takes the form of ward visits and correspondence. A special effort is made to help in the hospital adjustment of new patients. Families frequently have an economic problem and the hospital tries to acquaint them with all social agencies that might be available in their community.

A check is kept on the mental and physical condition of some patients while they are on furlough. At present this is done by correspondence on return of the patient to the hospital. It is the plan to establish a checking center in New Orleans for Social Service interviews with furloughed patients or their families. It is felt that this will be an excellent service, as approximately fifty per cent of patients come from that city.

The social history, when completed, field. It is especially useful in cases of involutional melancholia.

Fever therapy is used in such cases of paresis as will be benefited by it. The use of the modern fever cabinet is accompanied by intense laboratory tests. Only physical treatments are in complete accordance with the best and most modern medical practices.

For many years hydro therapy has been one of the hospital's most important therapeutic measures. It is an excellent substitute for physical and chemical restraint. Needle baths, continuous baths, sitz baths and wet sheet packs are given to disturbed patients, with very soothing effect. This does away with strong sedatives and produces sleep and relaxation when no other therapy will.

Three daily classes of occupational therapy are conducted; one on the wards and two in the classroom. Basket weaving, rug weaving, embroidery, knitting and crocheting are taught. When sending a patient to occupational therapy, the psychiatrist frequently makes specific recommendations for the patient. Music is usually played during the classes.

The results of these methods are readily apparent to the physician; the layman must be shown. The records, however, are proof of results which have been obtained during the past three years. Many patients have been discharged in far less time than previously.

Employment of the intake interviewer, who is Mrs. Ruth Davidge, was a forward step in the intelligent handling of cases at Jackson. Mrs. Davidge obtains as much information as is possible to get, and this background has been of inestimable value to the specialists who treat the numerous patients. It has resulted in quicker cure and resultant discharge of those who were sent to the institution, and they have returned to their various communities to assume their proper place as citizens.

That, after all, is the solemn obligation of those directing our institutions.

METHODIST MEN ARE ORGANIZED

Initial Dinner Held In First Church Here On Friday

Under auspicious circumstances, an organization of "Methodist Men" was effected at the First Methodist Church Friday night, with an initial membership of 22.

All day members of the Methodist Church, wherever their church membership may be, as well as those whose church preference is Methodist, are eligible for membership, and are invited to enlist with the organization. Another meeting will be held on Friday, October 27, at the annex of the church, where a supper will be served at 7:30 p. m.

Those who failed to attend the initial meeting and wish to attend the one next Friday, are asked to communicate with the church secretary, reserving a plate. This is necessary so as to be able to determine in advance what the number will be.

At this meeting the definite objectives of the group will be presented for discussion and adoption.

Officers elected are: G. Thomas Frazer, president; Ed Morris, vice president; E. N. Thompson, secretary-treasurer.

Power Of American Women Discussed

Position Of The American Woman Discussed By Review Club Members

The American woman—her power and position—was the topic discussed by members of the Review Club when they met Monday afternoon in the home of Mrs. D. M. Moore.

Mrs. W. T. Davis, president, presided over the business session, at which time reports were heard, and Mrs. A. R. Holloway was elected to represent the club at the state convention to be held in Baton Rouge, November 2 and 3. The club voted to become a patron of the Claire Tree Major Children's Theater.

Mrs. E. P. Cudd, international relations chairman, gave a summary of the article, "Waging Peace Through U. N. R. R. A.," written by Mrs. Dwight W. Marrow, and appearing in the September issue of the "Clubwoman." Mrs. Cudd stated that the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration is a drawing-together of forty-four nations in a spirit of unity and mutual aid to face a challenge too formidable for any one of them to meet alone. Women and their organizations can co-operate with U. N. R. R. A. in waging peace during the crucial months after Germany surrenders—peace that could be lost unless food, clothing, soap, seeds, tools, machinery, and essential technical and health services can be rushed to war-ravaged areas—rushed fast enough and in sufficient quantities to defeat famine and epidemics.

and to fill broken lives with courage for new beginnings.

Mrs. Z. J. Byrd reviewed "Kate Fennigate," by Booth Tarkington. "Kate Fennigate" is the revelation, by means of fiction, of a woman's life; and so far as any human creature's whole life can be known, this woman's is bared to the reader. She is a type whose nature is inalienably American, and she is distinctly of this self-conscious, analytic, though violent, century; but she is by no means simple, nor are the implications of her qualities unelaborate. She is neither easily loved nor easily known; nevertheless, she will be known by the reader of this book, who will, incidentally, know all women better. This book is the longest and perhaps the most deeply investigative of Mr. Tarkington's writings, to be really the study of the effects of women upon men. The humor of "Kate Fennigate" is resiliently subtle—the sort of humor we've need of today, for it is strong enough to penetrate and illumine today's hard living.

"Love in America," David Cohn's serious and witty essays on the art of living, was reviewed by Mrs. Sam Smith. In preparing his arguments on love in America, Mr. Cohn has done a thorough job of research—not however, in dusty libraries. He has set down what he has seen and heard in his travels around the country. He has explored the average American's home; he has investigated the love-lorn columns, the women's magazine, the society page of the newspaper. He has delved deep in the radio soap operas, and has studied reports by other observers of American life. Mrs. Smith discussed the last chapter, "The Place of Women in Our Society," under the following topics: conflict between the dreamer and the practical man; woman's responsibility in the post-war world; contrast between American technique of living and a genuine art of living; woman's responsibility in local politics; duties and potentialities of women's clubs; and women's responsibility in education, both public and at home. "Love in America" makes a plea for a more cordial entente in the home—for the deficiencies, the graces, the nobility, and cultural values that give beauty and rest to family life.

At the conclusion of the program, the hostess served refreshments to the following members: Mrs. C. R. Braun, Mrs. Z. J. Byrd, Mrs. H. W. Colbert, Mrs. E. P. Cudd, Mrs. W. T. Davis, Mrs. DeWitt Henry, Mrs. A. R. Holloway, Mrs. J. C. Loftin, Mrs. W. L. Mitchell, Mrs. Sam Smith, Mrs. Paul T. Wright.

Louis Whitfield, apprentice seaman USNR, at Arkansas A. and M. College in Monticello, will be home now for 20 days visiting his parents and other relatives.

LEGISLATION IS TOPIC AT P.-T. A.

Measures Affecting Public Schools Are Reviewed

Legislation concerning education introduced and passed during 1944 session of Louisiana legislature was the topic of the P. T. A. meeting held Thursday afternoon in the school auditorium.

The bills introduced but not passed were reviewed by Mrs. L. O. Bass. They were House Bill No. 437—Amend and re-enact the sales tax—First 1 per cent to be used where needed, the proceeds of 1/2 of 1 per cent to be dedicated to the following: Sum of two million, five hundred thousand to be placed in school fund to insure funds for $25.00 per educable, second ambulance service and $300,000 old age pensions. No. 505—Scholarships for service men. No. 510—That school boards have authority to establish and maintain special classes for the education of physically handicapped children. No. 706—Provides for creation and establishments of two area vocational schools for the negro in school and out of school youth, one school in northern part of state and one in southern. No. 807—Appropriate out of general fund $68,333.00 for functioning and operation of State Industrial School for Negro Juveniles. This sum to be used for purchasing such items as farm implements, motor vehicles, livestock, fencing, dairy equipment, etc. The bills passed were given by Mrs. C. W. Williams. They were briefly as follows:

Act No. 41. This act is the general appropriations bill for the biennium 1944-46. This act appropriates for the state colleges the full amounts requested by them, approved by this department, and recommended by the Department of Finance in the governor's budget recommendations to the legislature. It is a matter of real satisfaction to know that the financial needs of the colleges were so well provided for by the legislature.

This act provides for the appropriation to the State Department of Education of a total of $22,283,583.00 for the session 1944-45, and $21,978,206.25 for the session 1945-46. This amount includes the regular office expenses of the Department of Education; a special appropriation of $141,000.00 one year for vocational education; $1,000,000.00 each year for textbooks, library books, and teaching supplies; $250,000.00 each year for the state's portion of the school lunch program; a per-educable distribution of $22.50 for each year; an equalization distribution equal to one-third of the total per-educable distribution for each year; $1,350,000.00 each year for reimbursement to the parish school boards for the employers' contribution to the Teacher Retirement System; and $250,000.00 for the session 1944-45 and $250,000.00 for the session 1945-46 to be used by the department in expanding the establishment in parishes of special classes for crippled children.

Act No. 102. This act, which the House Bill No. 102 by A. M. Smith, sets up a procedure for the establishment of special classes for crippled children in various parishes throughout the state. An appropriation of $250,000.00 for 1944-45 and $250,000.00 for 1945-46 is included in the General Appropriations Bill to carry the provisions of this act into effect. This act further provides that, in parishes where no or more crippled children were present, the parishes be notified by the State Department of Education and the parish school board of the parish in which such a class is established.

Act No. 134. This act, which is House Bill No. 134 by Messrs. Clench and Har, allows parish school boards and state colleges to permit their employees, who desire to do so, to purchase group life, sickness, accident, or hospitalization insurance, and have the premiums deducted from their pay checks by the employer agency to the insurer. This act simplifies procedures and approves a practice already in effect in the state colleges and in many parish school systems by which teachers and other employees are able to purchase insurance at greatly reduced rates.

Act No. 234. This act, which is Senate Bill No. 167 by Mr. Gay, provides that certain old and incapacitated teachers who are not eligible for regular membership in the Teacher Retirement System may receive retirement allowances, and further provides that the retirement allowances of other old and incapacitated teachers to be retired or now retired may be supplemented up to one-third of the average annual salary received during the last five years of employment, but not more than $100.00 per year, from a special allocation $500,000 per year contained in the act without disturbing the financial stability of the regular Teacher Retirement System. This act should prove a great benefit to a number of needy old and incapacitated teachers who are not eligible for membership in the regular Teacher Retirement System or whose allowances are so small as to be entirely inadequate. This act, in its final form, was prepared by P. C. Rogers, secretary of the Teacher Retirement System.

Act No. 239. This act sets up a compulsory school attendance law for the state of Louisiana and requires the attendance in a public or private day school of every normal child who has reached his seventh birthday until he has reached his sixteenth birthday, except (a) children living outside the corporate limits of a municipality, more than 2 1/2 miles from a school of suitable grade where free transportation is not furnished by the parish school board, (b) children living more than 1 1/2 miles from a transfer route providing transportation to a public school of suitable grade, and (c) children temporarily excused from attendance under rules and regulations promulgated by the State Board of Education.

This act provides that attendance shall be required for 180 days each year, or for the full term of the public school which the child would normally attend. In other words, in a parish where the school session for Negroes is fewer than 180 days, pupils would be required to attend for the full session.

Act No. 267. This act, which is House Bill No. 9 by Mr. Kay, appropriates the sum of $300,000.00 for the session 1945-46 from general fund to the State Board of Education for the purpose of promoting the development of vocational education and for the equipping of shops and the building of community centers for the processing and conserving of food and for other like community projects. This act provides that the availability of this appropriation shall be allotted to the parish, vocational schools, and city public school systems under a plan approved by the State Board of Education and administered through its executive officer, provided that not less than 75 per cent of this appropriation shall be allotted to the parishes in proportion to their total farm population. In accordance with the provisions of this act, detailed plans will be provided by the State Department of Education governing the distribution and use of this fund during the school year 1945-46.

Miss Julia Wossman explained two amendments to be voted on in November. One Act 312, "House Bill No. 223, To allow parish school boards to increase the present 3 mills parish constitutional tax to as much as 5 mills. This amendment when adopted will help numerous parishes to increase their local support for public schools, and will prove a good value in helping to inaugurate the 12 year system and expand vocational education as well as provide a generally better educational program in the parishes.

Act No. 320. Which is House Bill No. 547 proposes to permit children to enter the public school four months before having reached their sixth birthday, six years as usual, age for entrance upon the regular school program, and with the large amount of work given to the first grade it seems unwise to place a child so young in the first grade. Mr. Cose also suggested in his House bill kindergarten be authorized for children between 4 and 6 years but that isn't included in the amendment to be voted on.

Memorial For Soldiers

In many cities subscriptions are being raised for memorials, some even frankly for "temporary" memorials though the meaning here is not too clear. If this means ugly wooden structures that will merely feather some contractor's vest, it should be frowned upon. There is no one who begs some fine testimonial of the sacrifice of our men, but we are all too cowardly to say the first word. There is a fear that someone may say we are not patriotic.

A few individuals, very daring, are writing letters to the editors timidly suggesting that funds be spent for memorials in the form of hospitals for incurables or playgrounds in congested districts, or even trade schools. The Federation of Women's Clubs is advising National Parkways. Miles of the National Blue Ridge Parkway have already been constructed in the east and if enough people would have the courage to express themselves, parkways could be built through each state. How much better living memorials, useful and yet beautiful, than dead heaps of stone?

There is also being organized an association against useless war memorials. This already has a membership of 100,000 and will grow if parents and friends and wives will realize that what they say will count. Public opinion can swing huge sums of money to worthwhile projects, if you speak now.

We are being surfeited with tall about post-war but there is something you can definitely do about the memorials. You flatter yourself you think your voice will have much weight at the peace table where countries will be dealt out like cards or where only the certified heads of governments will arrange the terms, or that is as it should be. Post-war plans must be arranged by those who can see the plain from the top of it mountain, but living memorials for your soldier is the job on hand for you. And it is an answer to the question ever on your lips. "What can I do?"

Mrs. Buhlig Gives Inspiring Talk

Parents And Teachers Are Held Responsible For Youth Of The Future

Parents and teachers of today's children and youth are more responsible for future peace than are the experts who sit around peace-planning tables, according to Mrs. Walter H. Buhlig of Chicago, field worker for the National Congress of Parents and Teachers who recently addressed the Twin Cities P-T. A. council and those in Fifth district.

It is in family life, school and church experiences and in community conditions, according to Mrs. Buhlig, that the atmosphere, character, and moral stamina are to be created which will make effective the programs of peace planners.

Parent-Teacher association have a three-fold responsibility in the matter, continued Mrs. Buhlig, first—to help parents make the most of parenthood; second, to interpret to the community the educational needs of children and youth; third, to build and arouse a public opinion which will meet the needs of children and youth in home, school, church, and community.

It is the total environment of the child which will determine the development of the next generation of citizens and, through them, decide the destiny of the nation, stated Mrs. Buhlig.

The National Congress of Parents and Teachers has a membership of more than 3,000,000 in 28,000 Parent-Teacher Associations in every state of the Union and in Hawaii, according to Mrs. Buhlig. These associations are concerned with the three-age levels—pre-school, elementary, and high school.

Mrs. Buhlig stressed the importance of guidance for the high school age which can be aided greatly by having an effective high school association. In many high school P-T. As students as well as parents and teachers participate in the planning and presentation of programs and in activities in behalf of the high school youth.

Mrs. A. D. Tisdale, president of the Louisiana Federation of Women's clubs will have some thrilling news for club women who attend the fifty-fifth annual convention in Baton Rouge November 2 and 3. Mrs. Tisdale has just returned from New York City where she attended the National Board meeting of the General Federation. She was a guest at the Waldorf Astoria during her stay in New York.

During the meeting, departmental forums were held by the national chairmen of the American citizenship, American home, public welfare, fine arts, war service, post-war planning, education, and international relations.

Mrs. Tisdale attended a church service dedicated to the General Federation at the Christ Church on Sunday, October 15, and a tea at 5:00 o'clock that afternoon, honoring Mrs. LaFell Dickinson, national president. She also attended a luncheon given by The Good Housekeeping Club Service in honor of a limited number of board members. Mrs. Tisdale stayed after the meeting for the Herald Tribune Forum. She heard such speakers as Clare Boothe Luce, Republican representative from Connecticut, Lillian Smith, author of "Strange Fruit," Thomas E. Dewey, governor of New York, Shirley Temple of moving picture fame, Lt. Gen. Brehon B. Somervell, commander of the army service forces, Ruth Clifton, originator of the Moline Plan, Jan Karski, representative of the Polish underground and others to numerous to mention.

Mrs. Tisdale had reservations for all the good shows on Broadway long in advance so she suffered no disappointments.

Flight Officer and Mrs. Hamilton Ward Chapman have returned from a wonderful honeymoon spent in New York City and Cape Cod, and are now in Amarilla, Texas. Mrs. Chapman is the former Miss Juanita Warren of West Monroe.

Judging from present indications the great majority of federated club women of the fifth district will attend the forty-fifth annual convention of the Louisiana Federation of Women's Clubs in Baton Rouge, November 2-3. Interest is centered in the presence of the national president, Mrs. LaFell Dickinson, who will be the guest of honor at the convention. Headquarters will be at the Heidelberg Hotel.

Col. William T. Smith of Philadelphia, Penn., recently received a few verses written by a service man who participated in the invasion of Normandy. The author of the lines was one of the casualties. Trusting the verses may be of help to other service men they are submitted as follows: "Look, God, I have never spoken to You, but now I want to say, How do You do. You see God, they told me You didn't exist and like a fool I believed all this. Last night from a shell hole, I saw Your sky. I figured right there they had told me a lie. Had I taken time to see other things You made I'd have known they weren't calling a spade a spade. I wonder God if You'd shake my hand. Somehow I feel that You will understand. Funny, I had to come to this hellish place before I could find time to see Your face. Well I guess there isn't much more to say but I'm glad, God, I met You today. I guess the "zero hour" will soon be here but I'm not afraid since I know You're near. Though I wasn't friendly to You before I wonder, God, if You'd wait at Your door. Well, I have to go now, God, Goodbye! Strange, since I met You I'm not afraid."

French will be available at the Chamber of Commerce office November 1, it was announced by Henry Biedenharn, chairman of the Northeast Louisiana committee.

Miss Vernon Is October Bride

Nuptial Event Of Interest Takes Place At Vernon Home In West Monroe

Claiming interest today is the announcement of the marriage of Miss Pauline Vernon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Vernon of West Monroe and Pvt. Jacques G. Shaughnessy, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Shaughnessy, of Alhambra, Calif.

The wedding, characterized by love, simplicity, took place at the suburban home of the bride's parents, October 14, at 7 o'clock in the evening with members of the family and a few intimate friends in attendance. The ceremony was performed by Rev. A. T. Mitchell, pastor of the Ridge Avenue Baptist Church, in the living room where an improvised altar was reared against a background of cathedral tapers, white chrysanthemums and English ivy. Tall pedestals overflowing with white chrysanthemums and roses formed an enclosure for members of the wedding party.

The bride wore an advanced fall model of pastel blue light weight wool with saddle brown accessories and a corsage of pink butterfly roses.

Following the ceremony an informal reception was held. The bride and groom cut their wedding cake, a delicious confection, beautifully decorated with frosting of a soldier and bride. Candles in silver candelabra gleamed at the four corners of the bride's table and at either end were oblong plaques of white asters and white roses. The mantel in the background was bedecked with southern smilax and at either end was placed a low receptacle holding chrysanthemums and asters in the autumn colors. A variety of confections were served during the receiving hour.

The young couple left for a brief honeymoon and are now at home with the bride's parents.

The bride, born and reared in West Monroe, is a graduate of the Ouachita Parish High School, class of 1941. The bridegroom, a native of California, is a graduate of the Alhambra High School, class of 1939, and is now stationed at Selman Field.

CAPT. BALLARD'S GROUP COMMENDED

Mrs. L. Ballard, 212 Peach street, Monroe, La., has received copy of citation of the 20th Eng. Combat Battalion, for performance of duty in action on D-day. Her son, Capt. Joseph A. Ballard, is attached to this company.

"The 20th Engineer Combat Battalion was attached to the 3rd Infantry with the mission of clearing the beach obstacle within the tidal range of the beach from vicinity of June 6, 1944. In the execution of this mission, the battalion came ashore under savage artillery, mortar, rifle, machine gun and small-arms fire. Despite persistent enemy activity, the 20th Engineer Battalion with courageous determination and tenacity of purpose, cleared gaps in barbed wire and minefields to gain the beach. The operation was especially complicated because infantry and other troops were within the danger radius of obstacle demolitions. Working at times ahead of the infantry, the engineers cleared a beach exit through anti-tank ditches, road blocks and minefields to insure the infantry's uninterrupted advances. Although continuously subjected to hazards of enemy fire the battalion by splendid foresight and technical skill, gallantly accomplished its difficult mission of clearing the beach, removing obstacles and assisting the infantry in a manner consistent with the highest tradition of the military service. The courageous prosecution of these extremely perilous tasks in the face of overwhelming odds and deadly enemy opposition is deserving of the highest praise."

FIREMEN PUT OUT TWO HOUSE BLAZES

The home of H. A. McGinn, 1900 Stewart street, was damaged by fire yesterday morning, but Monroe firemen who were summoned to extinguish the blaze said damage was slight. The fire, extinguished with a garden hose line, was reported caused by hanging a bath towel too near a lighted heater, and the towel became ignited.

Clothing hanging too near another stove was reported as the cause of a second house fire at 1211 Olive street. The house, owned by Joseph Kusan and occupied by a Negro, Lillian Reed, was only slightly damaged, firemen said.

Grass fires were extinguished at 709 South Third street, North Sixth and Alexander avenue, and at Bres avenue and North Eighth street.

SURPRISING GALVESTON TEAM BATTLES CYCLONES TO 0-0 TIE

Selman Held To Deadlock In Game Which Neither Team Threatens

An underrated Galveston Army Air Base eleven and a crippled Selman held aggregation battled to a scoreless tie at Brown Field here last night in a game in which neither team ever seriously threatened to score.

Twice the Galveston Islanders tried for field goals with Joe Mernik, former Minnesota All-American doing the kicking, but his first kick with the ball in play on Selman's 20 went wide, and his second boot from the Cyclones 25 was blocked.

It was the second straight tie game for Selman who a week ago held tightly Keeler Field to a 19-19 tie on the same field. It was also the second scoreless game on the same field this week, Louisiana College and Northeast Junior College having fought a 0-0 duel Thursday night.

The Islanders presented an array of former college greats led by All-American Mernik, Ed Dusek, former Texas A. and M. ace, Bill Luongo, Charlie Hennrich, Missouri's Stan Holland, Duke, Gene Voss, Purdue's Vince DiFrancesco, Northwestern's Leonard Guburzynski, Ohio U. and a host of others, and in the face of such unexpected talent available in the camp of the enemy the Cyclones played a mighty fine brand of ball.

Two backfield aces, "Dub" Matts and Mack Bishop, were out of the Selman lineup as the result of injuries and the Cyclone offense was held to our first downs while Luongo, Diasek and Mernik picked up eight firsts for the visitors.

Selman's backfield chores were chiefly in the hands of Bill Harbar, Don Harris, Billy Hughes, Bob Swanson, Buzz Erdminger, Jerry Brandt and H. B. Caldwell, with Clyde Fennel, Jim Watson, and Stinner also seeing service chiefly as blockers.

There was some rough and rugged battling going on in both lines with the play of Joe Currence, Hank Agnew, Ralph DeAngelis, Mel Russell, Ed Schumacher, Jimmy Bell, B. L. Crumpton, Sam Stoen and Kim Strayer matching the Galveston greats such as Holland, Voss, Mullins, DiFrancesco, Zeller, Guburzynski, Buzsaky and others yard for yard.

Cold statistics give Galveston the edge.

In addition to sheding the leads 4-0 in first downs, the Islanders had net yardage gain of 121 yards against net 69 yards for Selman. The Cyclones got 99 yards rushing but lost 92 of the same yard. The visitors managed 137 yards rushing the ball and lost just 16.

Fumbles hurt Selman also as the Cyclones recovered only one of their four fumbles while the Islanders got back two of their own three fumbles. Selman punters had the edge however, getting a distance of 247 yards in six punts against 222 yards for Galveston, also on six kicks. Don Harris

INDIANA EDGES OUT NORTHWESTERN, 14-7

EVANSTON, Ill., Oct. 21.—(AP)—Expanding all their power in the first half, Indiana edged Northwestern 14-7 in a football game today.

A flurried first half triumph over the Wildcats since 11:25, Hoosiers struck for touchdowns in the first and second periods, while Northwestern failed to score. The Hoosiers' first touchdown came in the first quarter when a 12-yard pass from Coachman to a wide receiver was caught by a Hoosier.

ST. MARY'S UPSETS U. C. L. A., 21 TO 12

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 21.—(AP)—Julius Davis, an 18-year-old naval aviation cadet without any college football experience, powered St. Mary's to a surprising 21-12 upset victory over the U. C. L. A. Bruins today.

Davis, 175-pound slacker from Berkeley, Calif., was pretty much the whole show for the first three periods while the navy team was scoring three touchdowns in straight sets. He topped the famed Bruin line on long gains on sprinters and off tackle manuevers. U. C. L. A.'s line couldn't stop him, and the backfield was making all the tackles.

VILLANOVA WINS PHILADELPHIA, 21-0

INDIANS TO PREP FOR RETURN TILT

Tribe Has Open Date This Week But Plays Wildcats On Nov. 3

The Northeast Junior College Indians, who opened their belated football season the past Thursday in a scoreless tie with Louisiana College, have an open date this week and then they will invade Pineville for a return game with Louisiana College's Wildcats on November 3.

Coach James L. Malone yesterday said he also expected to announce within the next week at least three other games planned for the Tribe's men in November and the first week of December.

The Redskins suffered three losses through injuries against the Wildcats, one of them never getting a chance to show in the game.

The pre-game casualty was Frank Cline, halfback at Otachita Parish High School last fall, who went out with a knee collapsed on him in the warmup exercises preceding the game. The knee had given Cline trouble for three weeks, but apparently he had recovered and was ready to go Thursday. Coach Malone said Cline would probably be on the inactive list for the remainder of the season.

Other casualties were "Frenchie" Covillion, flashy guard and line mauler, and Floyd Temple, a reserve guard from Rayville.

Covillion, a native of Bunkie, La., is nursing a knee injury and may be ready to go again before the next tilt with the Wildcats.

Temple, now suffering an arm injury, played a good game what time he was in action and grabbed the spotlight individually when his alertness paid off with the recovery of a Wildcat fumble to set the stage for one of two serious touchdowns threats by the heads.

Coach Malone declared the Indians would start right in with hard work again Monday and that they would go to Pineville with a determination to win, although the Wildcats could be expected to play an even better brand of ball in their own back yard.

TEXAS LEAGUE MEETS TO TALK 1945 PLANS

DALLAS, Oct. 21.—(AP)—Texas League coaches met today to discuss plans for the 1945 season, including the question of resulting from the war.

No action was expected from the meeting, but it was the first time since the war that the league's coaches had met to discuss the future of the league.

Coach Malone declared the Indians would start right in with hard work again Monday and that they would go to Pineville with a determination to win, although the Wildcats could be expected to play an even better brand of ball in their own back yard.

PURDUE RALLIES TO WIN FROM IOWA BY 26 TO 7

IOWA CITY, Iowa, Oct. 21.—(AP)—The all-victorious Iowa "Grid Kids" ousted Purdue with a game-leading second period touchdown today, and then rallied to defeat the Hoosiers 26-7 in a football game today.

The game for Iowa's homecoming fans as they saw their favorites take the lead 13-6 for the first time in their rivalry games this season, was a short-lived Purdue roar back early in the third quarter to bring the upper end of the score to 13-13.

GIRAULT PACES FIELD IN SHREVEPORT GOLF

SHREVEPORT, La., Oct. 21.—(AP)—Shep Giraull of Monroe featured the second day's play in the Ark-La-Tex Golf Tournament at the Shreveport Country Club when he eliminated Ross McDade, Louisiana State champion, 2 and 1 in the first round. He entered the semi-finals by beating Gus Carter of Marshall, Tex., 2 up in the afternoon round.

Giraull, along with Jimmy McGonigill and Vance Liddell of Shreveport and Wally Ulrich, National Intercollegiate champion, now an aviator's cadet at Majors Field in Texas, will tee off Sunday morning in the semi-final rounds. The finals will be played Sunday afternoon.

NOTRE DAME BEATS WISCONSIN, 28-13

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Oct. 21.—(AP)—The running of Bob Kelly and Elmer Angerman kept Notre Dame in the unbeaten class today with a 28-13 victory over Wisconsin, but for the crowd of 40,000 it was Earl (Jug) Girard and a plucky Budget forward wall that stole the show.

The Runabers, off with their customary explosion of speed in the first minute of play, saw those Wisconsin forwards stop them cold through two quarters, outplay their vaunted defense, and then pave the way to two touchdowns—the first scored against the Irish this year.

Girard, playing every minute of the game, tossed two passes for the Badgers, touchdowns, and kicked one extra point. He dashed through the heavy Irish wall after time for substantial gains, and his field generalship when scoring opportunities were presented was flawless.

NEVILLE RETURNS TO HOME GRID-IRON AGAINST STRONG BEARCAT TEAM

The Neville High School Tigers came up with a surprise 14-13 victory over the Tallulah High School Trojans at Tallulah Friday night but the Bengals will have an even tougher job on their hands next Friday night when they meet Coach "Boss" Garrett's high-riding Ruston High School Bearcats.

The Bearcats, sparked by Bobby Aillet and "Flip" Long in the backfield and "Little Blue" Hogg in the line, will meet Coach H. D. Payne's Bengals at Neville Stadium at 8 o'clock Friday.

Coach Payne last night expressed himself as well pleased with the performance put on by his boys at Tallulah and at the same time said he realized that Ruston would without a doubt field a much stronger club and that the Tigers, even with odds against them, would fight to win and if victory was not theirs then they would strive to keep the score within reason.

The passing of Charlie "Shadow" Brown at Tallulah was noteworthy. The Tiger back threw bullet passes for good gains at times and again placed his shots in the right spots but they failed to connect with the receiver.

"Scotty" Daniels, rugged little full-back, did some splendid running and scored one of Neville's touchdowns through the middle of the line from the Trojan line after a defensive player touching him.

Utility man George Luffey, a regular end who has played the last two games in the backfield to plug gaps caused by injuries, did a good job at quarterback and his defensive playing was tops. Luffey also provided the margin of victory in the close contest by kicking the oval straight through the uprights for points after both Tiger touchdowns.

Another important role in the triumph was played by Reuben Simmons, end, who stood out defensively. Simmons was at his best going down under Tiger punts, tasing Tallulah backs for losses, and snagging passes, but when he covered a fumbled punt behind the Trojan goal in the last two minutes of play he gave Neville the tying touchdown.

Other Tigers looking particularly good were "Stoney" Smallwood, with good offensive and defensive line work, Robert Estapa, outstanding in his blocking and also getting in tackles that threw the opposition for losses, and George Roach, Ernest Verable, George Waters, Charles Jenkins, Alfred Joseph, and Hugh Smith who played steady defensive and offensive ball. The backfield blocking of Carl Fontana and Brooks Dawkins contributed in a big way to Neville gains.

The Tigers haven't played before the home folks since October 6 and their game Friday will be the last until November 10 when they meet the Clarks High School Lumberjacks here.

The passing of Charlie "Shadow" Brown at Tallulah was noteworthy. The Tiger back threw bullet passes for good gains at times and again placed his shots in the right spots but they failed to connect with the receiver.

"Scotty" Daniels, rugged little full-back, did some splendid running and scored one of Neville's touchdowns through the middle of the line from the Trojan line after a defensive player touching him.

Utility man George Luffey, a regular end who has played the last two games in the backfield to plug gaps caused by injuries, did a good job at quarterback and his defensive playing was tops. Luffey also provided the margin of victory in the close contest by kicking the oval straight through the uprights for points after both Tiger touchdowns.

Another important role in the triumph was played by Reuben Simmons, end, who stood out defensively. Simmons was at his best going down under Tiger punts, tasing Tallulah backs for losses, and snagging passes, but when he covered a fumbled punt behind the Trojan goal in the last two minutes of play he gave Neville the tying touchdown.

Other Tigers looking particularly good were "Stoney" Smallwood, with good offensive and defensive line work, Robert Estapa, outstanding in his blocking and also getting in tackles that threw the opposition for losses, and George Roach, Ernest Verable, George Waters, Charles Jenkins, Alfred Joseph, and Hugh Smith who played steady defensive and offensive ball. The backfield blocking of Carl Fontana and Brooks Dawkins contributed in a big way to Neville gains.

The Tigers haven't played before the home folks since October 6 and their game Friday will be the last until November 10 when they meet the Clarks High School Lumberjacks here.

Tribe Has Open Date This Week But Plays Wildcats On Nov. 3

The Northeast Junior College Indians, who opened their belated football season the past Thursday in a scoreless tie with Louisiana College, have an open date this week and then they will invade Pineville for a return game with Louisiana College's Wildcats on November 3.

Coach James L. Malone yesterday said he also expected to announce within the next week at least three other games planned for the Tribe's men in November and the first week of December.

The Redskins suffered three losses through injuries against the Wildcats, one of them never getting a chance to show in the game.

The pre-game casualty was Frank Cline, halfback at Otachita Parish High School last fall, who went out with a knee collapsed on him in the warmup exercises preceding the game. The knee had given Cline trouble for three weeks, but apparently he had recovered and was ready to go Thursday. Coach Malone said Cline would probably be on the inactive list for the remainder of the season.

Other casualties were "Frenchie" Covillion, flashy guard and line mauler, and Floyd Temple, a reserve guard from Rayville.

Covillion, a native of Bunkie, La., is nursing a knee injury and may be ready to go again before the next tilt with the Wildcats.

Temple, now suffering an arm injury, played a good game what time he was in action and grabbed the spotlight individually when his alertness paid off with the recovery of a Wildcat fumble to set the stage for one of two serious touchdowns threats by the heads.

Coach Malone declared the Indians would start right in with hard work again Monday and that they would go to Pineville with a determination to win, although the Wildcats could be expected to play an even better brand of ball in their own back yard.

TIGERS TO MEET RUSTON FRIDAY

Neville Returns To Home Grid-Iron Against Strong Bearcat Team

The Neville High School Tigers came up with a surprise 14-13 victory over the Tallulah High School Trojans at Tallulah Friday night but the Bengals will have an even tougher job on their hands next Friday night when they meet Coach "Boss" Garrett's high-riding Ruston High School Bearcats.

The Bearcats, sparked by Bobby Aillet and "Flip" Long in the backfield and "Little Blue" Hogg in the line, will meet Coach H. D. Payne's Bengals at Neville Stadium at 8 o'clock Friday.

Coach Payne last night expressed himself as well pleased with the performance put on by his boys at Tallulah and at the same time said he realized that Ruston would without a doubt field a much stronger club and that the Tigers, even with odds against them, would fight to win and if victory was not theirs then they would strive to keep the score within reason.

The passing of Charlie "Shadow" Brown at Tallulah was noteworthy. The Tiger back threw bullet passes for good gains at times and again placed his shots in the right spots but they failed to connect with the receiver.

"Scotty" Daniels, rugged little full-back, did some splendid running and scored one of Neville's touchdowns through the middle of the line from the Trojan line after a defensive player touching him.

Allen Says Betting Boys Likely To Ruin Basketball And Football

LAWRENCE, Kan., Oct. 21.—(AP)—Dr. Forrest C. (Phog) Allen, Kansas University basketball coach and critic, sees gamblers as the termites who are about to fella the castle of intercollegiate athletics, but denied today that he had any plan to stop the game. Allen said that he had been told by a number of college boys throwing basketball games in eastern tournaments. Phog explained when asked if he had received a telegram from Ned Irish, president of the Garden, that he was not striking at Ned Irish or any other promoter, but the loquacious doctor maintained, "The point I'm making is that these big time betting boys are going to get to basketball and football players and ruin amateur college sports."

"Nothing Irish or any coach or promoter can do will stop the gamblers, only the college presidents can stop by appointing an absolute czar such as baseball has in Judge Landis," Allen said that he held Irish in high esteem and that basketball tournaments held in the Garden were on the up and up.

"But gambling is rampant in the Garden and every other auditorium where tournaments are held," Allen added. "If they aren't, why did a spectator run out and embrace a Utah player on the floor of Madison Square Garden last spring with the assertion that a goal the boy had scored had saved the man $15,000?"

Allen declared that gamblers had laid 10 point odds on Kentucky against Utah and the last minute goal had reduced the margin to 8 points.

"That's why the man was jubilant," Phog related.

The amount of money bet on college football and basketball would "stagger the imagination" if the total were known, Phog said.

"If big betting isn't stamped out, there's going to be an awful stink one of these fine days," he asserted. "Eventually the shady dealers will bribe a college boy and it will make the rankiest kind of a scandal."

In Salt Lake City, Vadal Peterson, University of Utah coach, refused to confirm or deny an assertion by Allen that he had knocked down a gambler who asked "how much it would cost to have Dartmouth win over Utah" in the NCAA basketball finals last spring.

BRONZE STAR IS AWARDED NORTH

Monroe Master Sergeant
Served As Crew Chief
On Liberator

15TH A. A. F. IN ITALY—M/Sgt. Charles F. North, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. North of 1014 North Fifth street, Monroe, La., has been awarded the bronze star for "meritorious conduct in the performance of his duties as crew chief on a B-24 Liberator" with a heavy bomber group here.

Head of a crew of airplane mechanics, the Louisiana man's duties involve the responsibility of proper repair and maintenance on a Liberator bomber. While his bomber group was operating in the Middle East, North Africa and Italy, he maintained his aircraft in operational fitness under the most difficult weather and supply conditions.

His citation read in part: "On March 12, 1944, Sergeant North was assigned a new aircraft and so exceptionally was his maintenance that his plane completed 48 successful consecutive missions against the enemy in a period of 99 days. He had to contend not only with mechanical trouble, but with battle damage as well. Flying personnel on many occasions owe their lives to his thorough and careful workmanship."

Sergeant North came overseas with his present bombing outfit as a private in July, 1942, and progressed steadily until he attained his present rank.

He is a graduate of the Neville High school, and prior to his entry into the service in November, 1941, was employed as a driller's helper by the Stovall Drilling Company. He received his technical training at Keesler Field, Miss.

NOTEBOOK OF WAR WRITER

By Hal Boyle

WITH AMERICAN TROOPS IN GERMANY, Oct. 12.—(Delayed)—(P)—Only two miles from the front lines, an American armored outfit has set up the first recreation center for Yank troops in Germany.

Here each day 200 soldiers come for a 12-hour respite from battle posts which some have held for more than eight days in rain and cold and through the heaviest shelling and bombing the Nazis have dishied out.

The brick buildings housing the recreation center have no windows. Bombs blew them out. They are scarred from shrapnel. But the war is two miles away—and that seems a reasonably safe distance to the men, who have been dueling the enemy at a hundred yards.

I walked through the center with the commanding general and Lt. Stephen F. Slaughter of Purcellville, Va., who helped organize this battlefield recreation area.

"We're resting them in trucks from the front and take them to the center where they can scrub down under a hot shower—the first many of them have had in weeks," the lieutenant said. "Then they get a good hot meal and afterwards they can write letters home or go to one or two movie houses we keep running."

"The whole idea is to get them away from the tension of the front. Those hot showers do the most good. You can see them relax after that. Some of them have been living for days in foxholes under shell and mortar fire so heavy they don't leave their shelters even long enough to go to the toilet."

"As soon as they are clean again and have put down a good hot meal the first thing most of them want to do is grab a pencil and paper and write back home."

A Red Cross director keeps writing supplies and reading material available and Protestant and Catholic chaplains hold daily services. Before dusk the troops load back into trucks and return to their posts.

"The funny thing is that they are itching to get back to their buddies by then," Slaughter declared. "They want to give another bunch a chance to pull out and rest."

"The trip here is something to look forward to," said Pte. Henry C. Boyette of Columbus, Ga., a combat engineer. "Up there we don't have much to look forward to either. Most of us now don't think this war is going to end tomorrow."

"Gee, I don't know about that," drawled Pte. Homer Thomas of Spruce Pine, N. C., another engineer. "All that is holding us up is the Germans. If it hadn't been for them we would have been in Berlin."

In one room Pte. Raymond E. Zillich of Waukegan, Ill., a gunloader on a Sherman tank, was writing to his wife. They have a 21-month-old son he has never seen.

"This is the first chance I have had to write home in 10 days," he said. "In the front lines the officers have no time to censor mail."

In another room Pte. Henry S. Porter of Liberty, S. C., a former farmer, watched Pte. Anthony Marino of Hillsburn, N. Y., put the final clippers to the hair of Cpl. Johnny Davies, Hammond, La.

"I also cut the general's hair—but I don't charge the boys anything for that," said Marino.

Across the room T. J. Jack Cordle of New Brocton, Ala., was putting ointment on a shrapnel burn on the foot of S Sgt. Gilroy Lenoire, of Cotton Port, La.

The general, a tall, quiet, grey-eyed man who has fought in three campaigns, noticed Sgt. Thomas B. Tush of Garrett, Kan., a tank commander, having difficulty finding a letter and asked:

"Can't you think of anything to say?"

"No sir," replied Tush. "The words come pretty hard up there now. This is sure a pretty nice job after ducking shells for days. I have spent so much time in cellar, I feel like a rat."

Over one door in the recreation center was a German sign, "Deutschland über alles—Germany above all." Some GI had chalked under it: "Oh yeah!"

CORRECTION

In Saturday's World a head stating that pistols had been stolen from a "Negro's residence" was erroneously placed over a story which detailed a robbery reported by Jimmie Elmore to local police. The story contained no reference to a Negro, and if any inference to that effect was gained from the head, The World gladly makes this correction.

STUDY GROUP HAS MEET IN SCHOOL

Barkdull Foulk P-T. A. Study Group met at the school library Thursday, 2 p. m. Mrs. Robert Johnson leader conducted a most interesting lesson. The subject was from the article in October Parents Teachers magazine, Quarrels and Temper. This is the second article in the course on "Guiding the Citizens of Tomorrow." A better understanding of the child's needs assert himself is vital if his parents are to offer him the best possible chance to acquire a rich, well rounded and alert personality. Some of the questions discussed were what are some of the underlying causes of children's quarrels in school and home.

The neighborhood children are playing in your back yard and they get in a quarrel, how would you settle the matter, supposing a seven year old boy quarrels with his five year old sister, which one of the two would you protect, the older or younger?

Do you believe parents should try to settle all their children's quarrels? When is it best not to interfere? Twenty-six were present.

DICK TRACY

CONGRATULATIONS, CONNELLY AND WIX! YOUR QUICK RESPONSE HAS ENDED THE CAREER OF AT LEAST TWO OF SNOWFLAKE'S ABDUCTORS

TELL ME HOW YOU SIGNALLLED FOR HELP, CHIEF

IT WAS SIMPLE I THREW THIS TUMBLER SWITCH ON MY DESK - WITH MY KNEE

THAT OPENED THIS MIKE DIRECTLY TO THE RADIO ROOM. THEN, BY CONVERSATION WITH THESE THUGS, I LET THE OPERATOR KNOW WHAT WAS GOING ON

BUT SHAKY GOT AWAY! WITH SNOWFLAKE! OUR JOB IS ONLY HALF DONE!

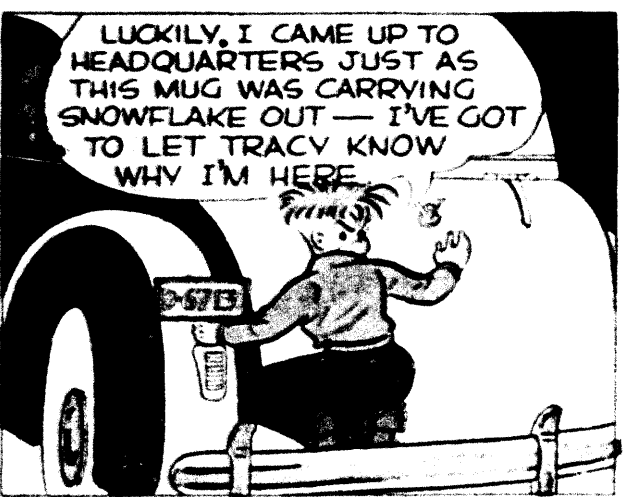

MEANWHILE, RETURNING FROM THE MODEL AGENCY WHERE HE HAD BEEN SEEKING INFORMATION ABOUT SNOWFLAKE, DICK TRACY WAITS FOR TRAFFIC LIGHTS TO CHANGE

THAT WAS A MARBLE. HUH? WHAT TH - THAT'S JUNIOR!

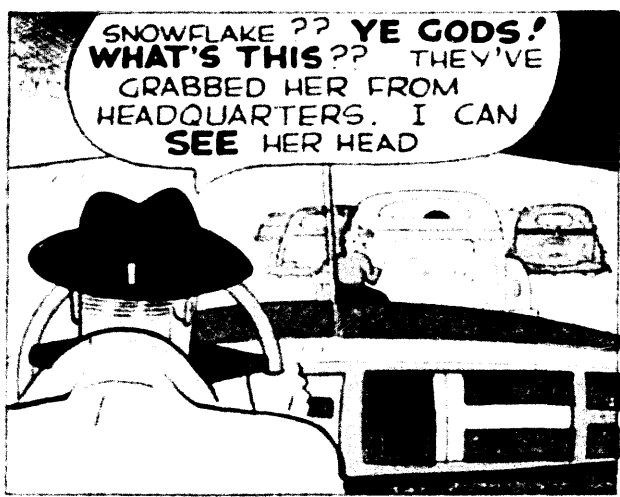

WHAT'S HE DOING ON THE BACK END OF THAT CAR? HE - HE'S TRYING TO SIGNAL ME - WANTS ME TO FOLLOW

LUCKILY, I CAME UP TO HEADQUARTERS JUST AS THIS MUG WAS CARRYING SNOWFLAKE OUT - I'VE GOT TO LET TRACY KNOW WHY I'M HERE

AS TRACY SWINGS HIS ROADSTER AROUND AND PULLS UP BEHIND SHAKY'S CAR, JUNIOR SCRIBBLES ONE WORD IN THE DUST ON THE TRUNK

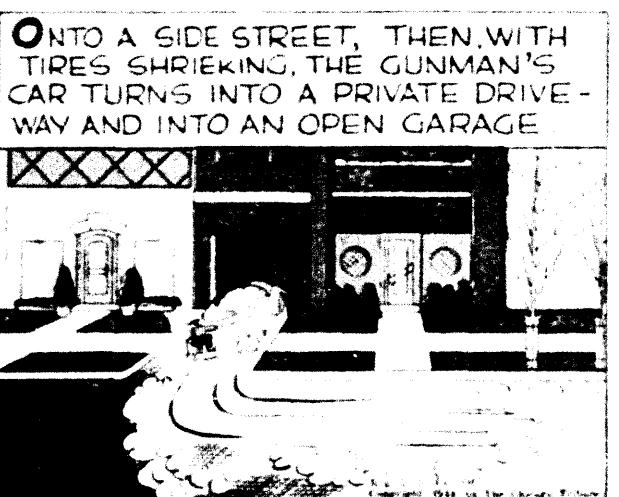

SNOWFLAKE ?? YE GODS! WHAT'S THIS?? THEY'VE GRABBED HER FROM HEADQUARTERS. I CAN SEE HER HEAD

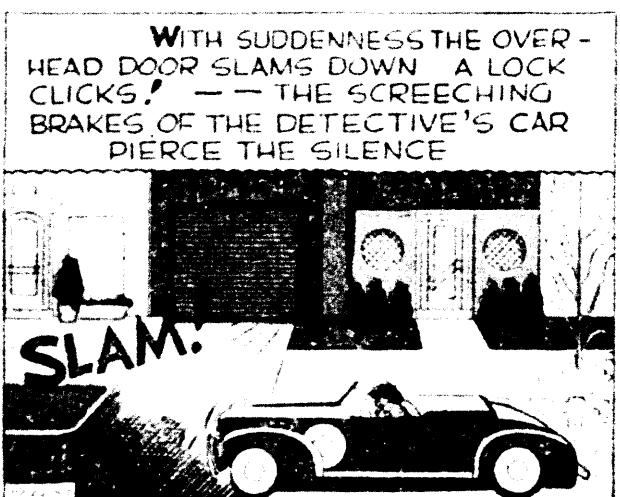

I DON'T LIKE THAT ROADSTER THAT'S FOLLOWING US. STEP ON IT

WE'RE ALMOST THERE, SHAKY

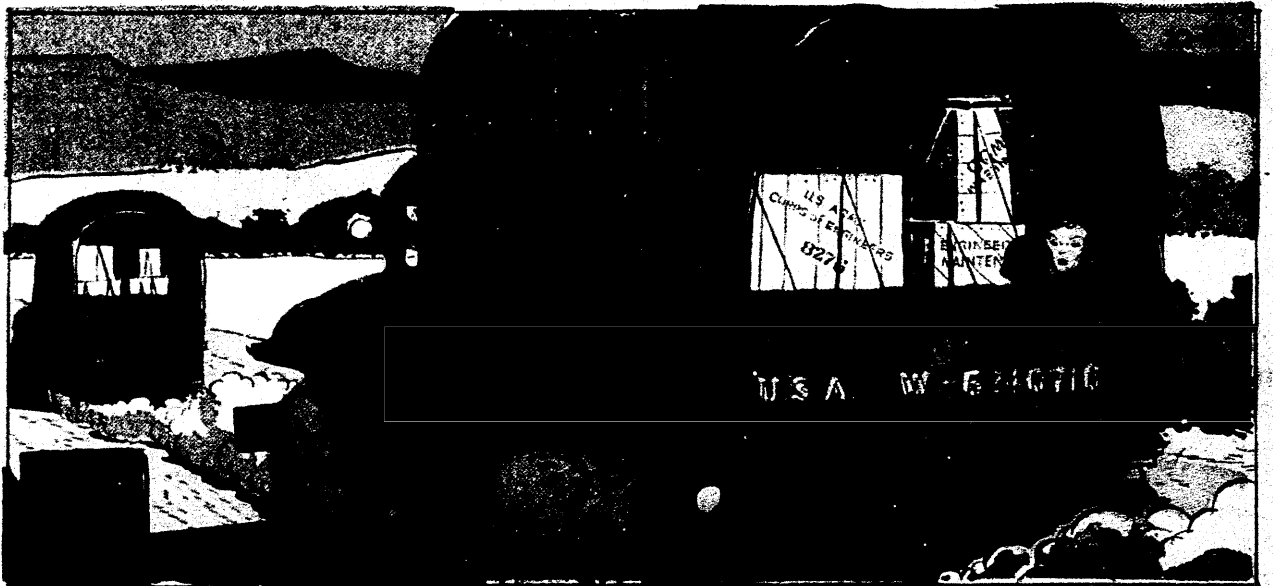

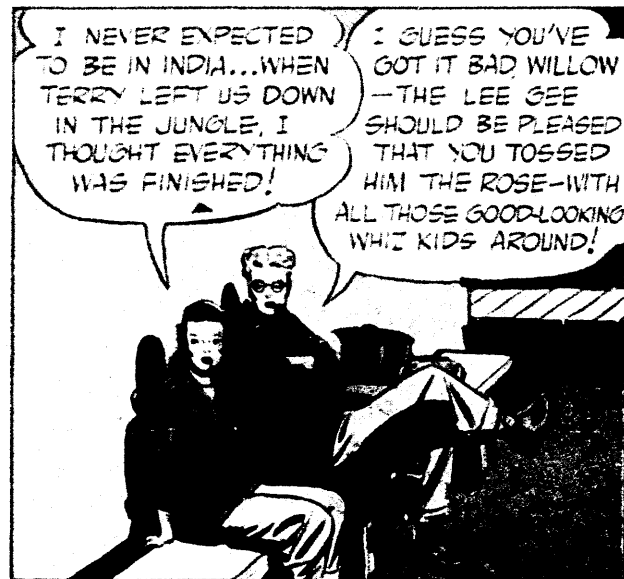

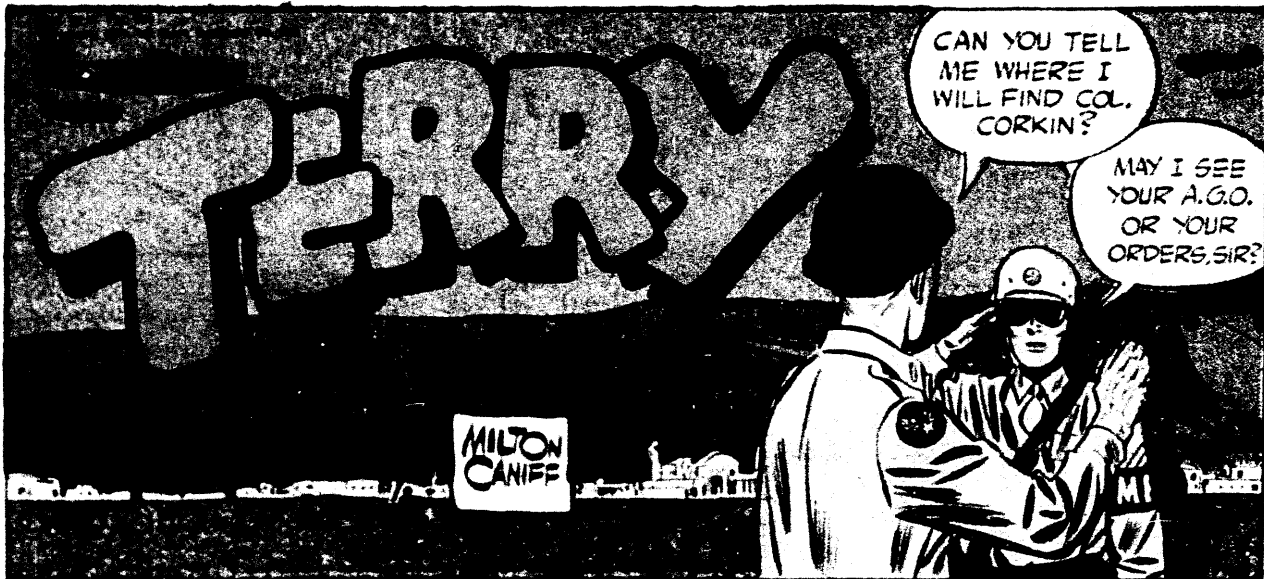

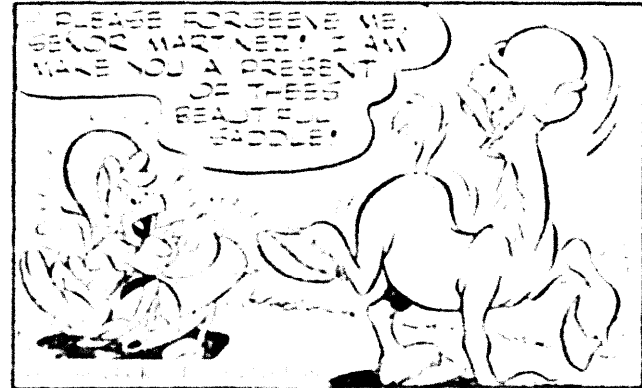

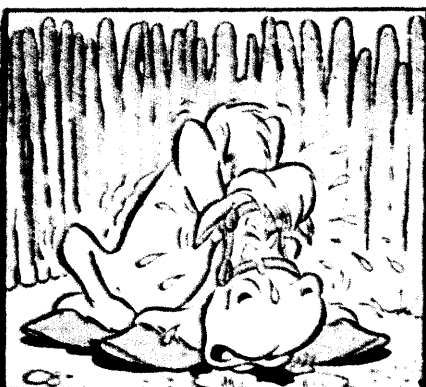

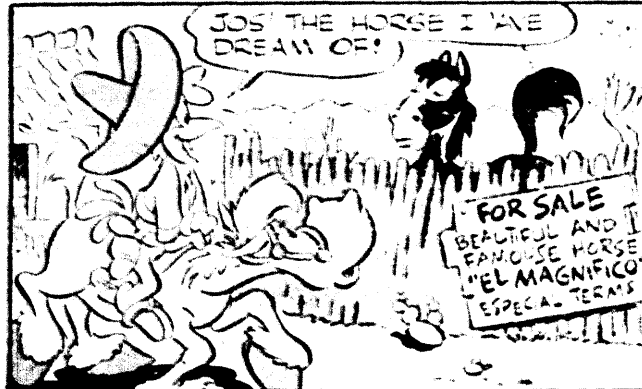

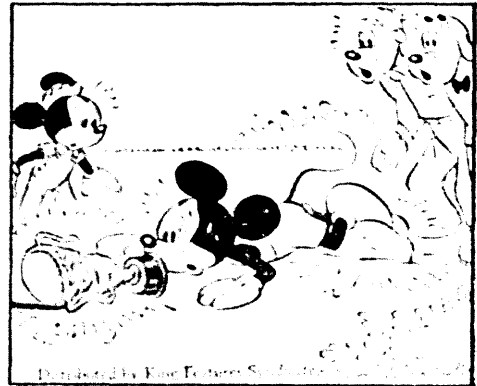

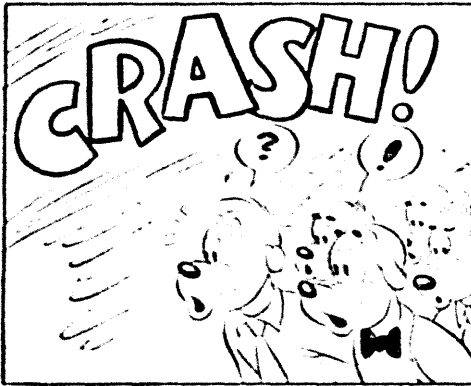

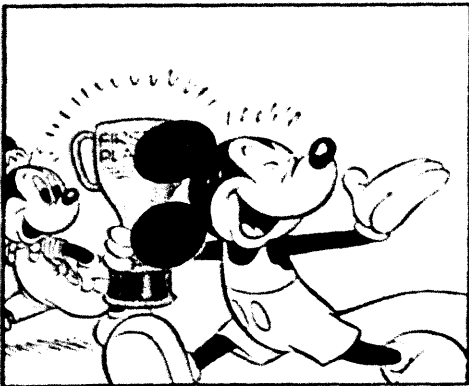

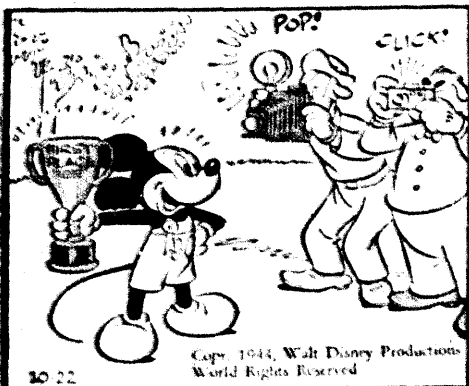

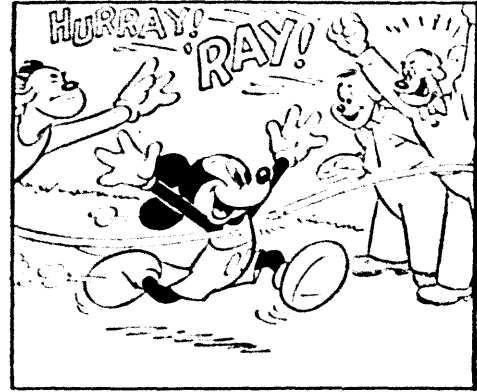

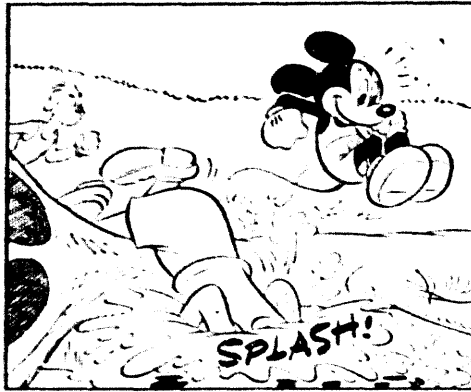

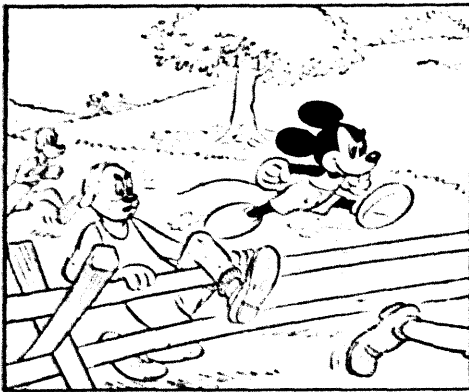

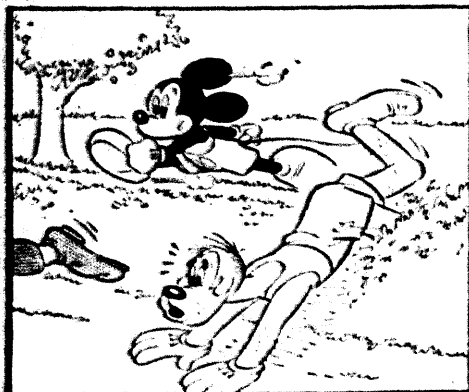

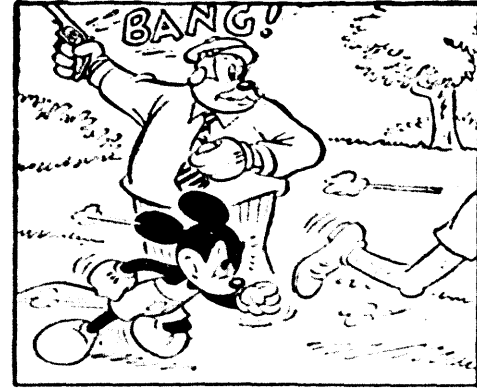

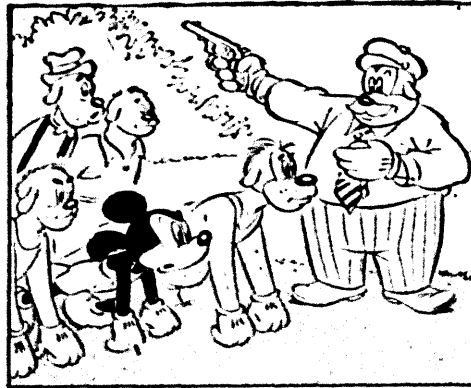

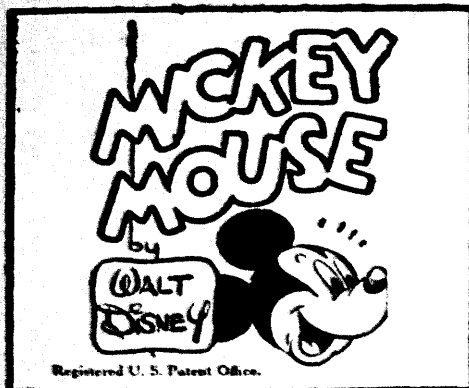

ONTO A SIDE STREET, THEN, WITH TIRES SHRIEKING, THE GUNMAN'S CAR TURNS INTO A PRIVATE DRIVEWAY AND INTO AN OPEN GARAGE

WITH SUDDENNESS THE OVER-HEAD DOOR SLAMS DOWN - A LOCK CLICKS! - - THE SCREECHING BRAKES OF THE DETECTIVE'S CAR PIERCE THE SILENCE

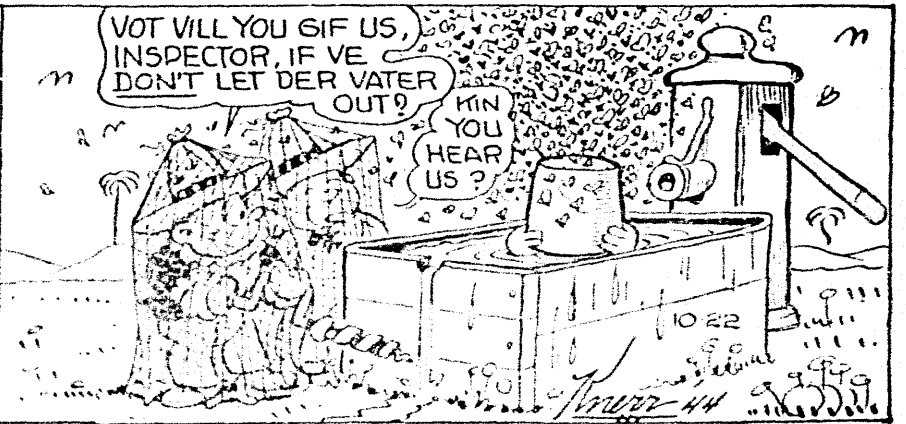

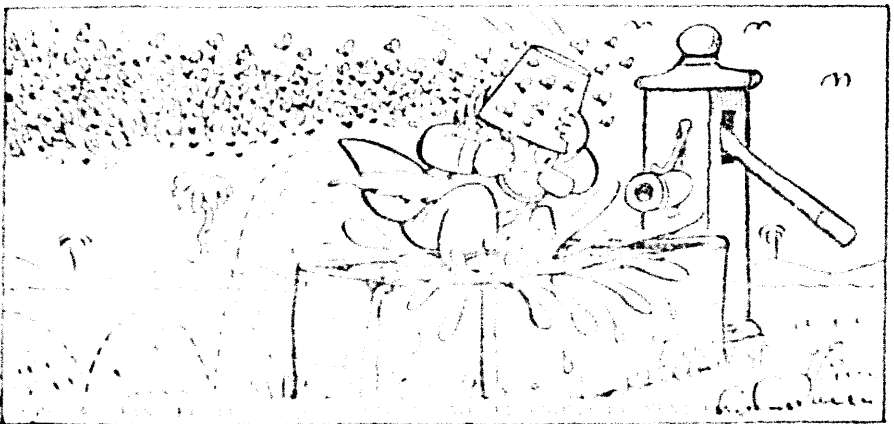

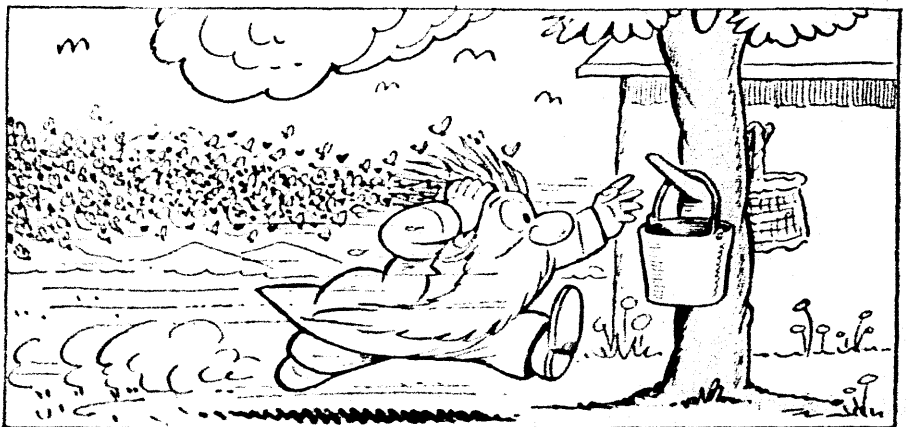

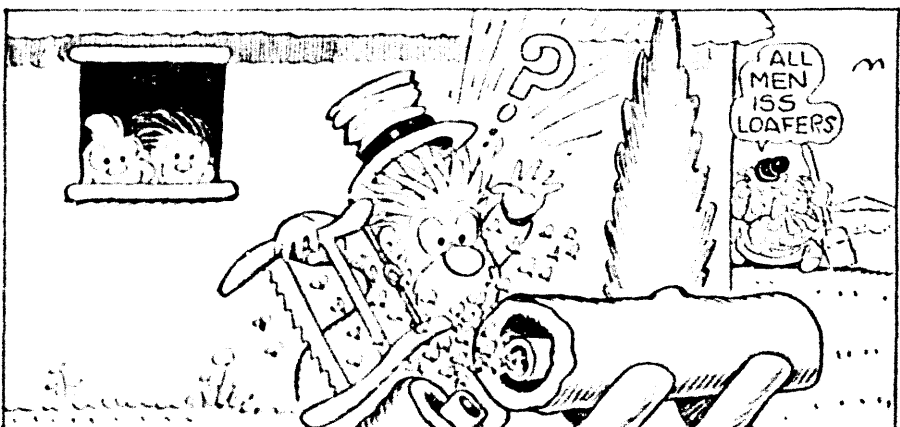

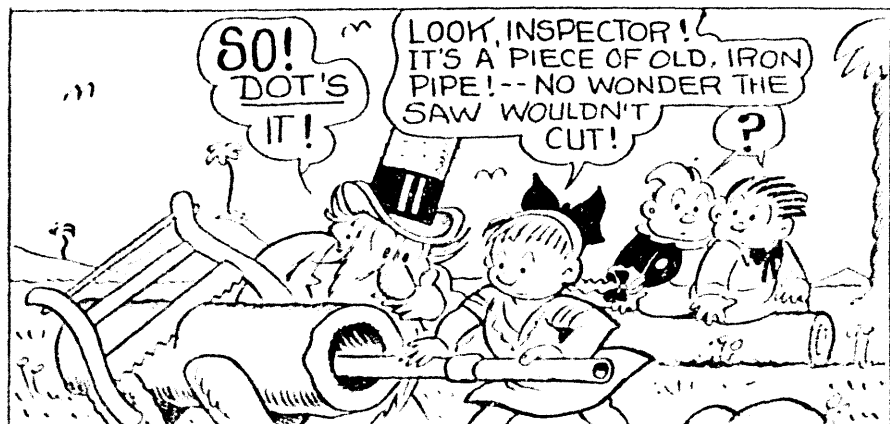

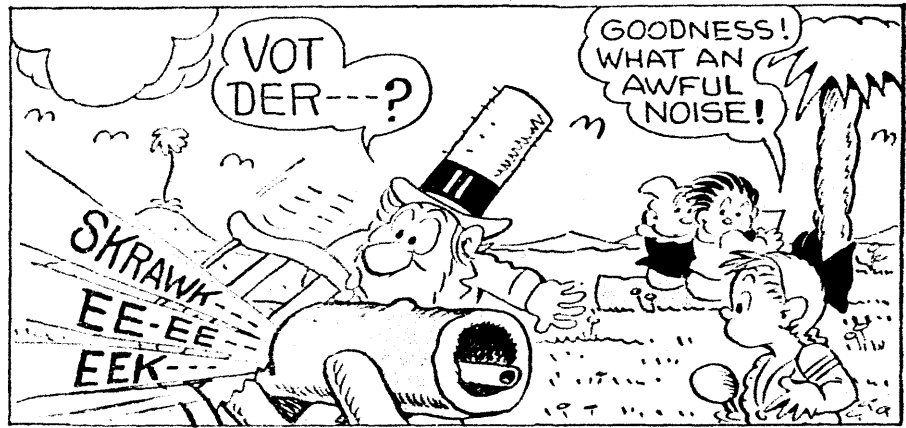

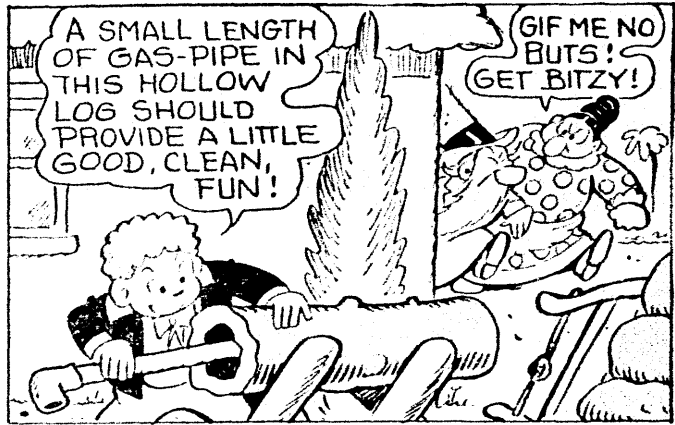

SLAM!

MEANTIME WE SEE SMILIN' JACK THOUSANDS OF MILES AWAY AT AN OUTPOST AIR BASE---

I WONDER WHERE MY WIFE IS? SHE'S PROBABLY IN TH' PACIFIC BY NOW, SEARCHING FOR OUR SON---

I KEEP HAVIN' A HORRIBLE FEELING THAT I'LL NEVER SEE HER AGAIN-- I THINK I'LL WRITE HER A LETTER--

DEAR LI'L' RED HEAD: YOUR HUSBAND IS VERY LONESOME FOR YOU-- I PRAY THAT IT WON'T BE LONG UNTIL THE WORLD IS BACK TO NORMAL AND WE CAN HAVE THE HOME THAT FATE ALWAYS DENIED US--

When a man is stationed at a far-a-way hell-hole that was never meant for human beings to live in, he has a lot of time to think--

...and little things that never seemed important before suddenly become the biggest thing in his life--

HE THINKS ABOUT A HOME AND A FAMILY TO GREET HIM AND ABOUT THE GOOD HOT DINNER--- FRIED CHICKEN, BLACK-EYED PEAS, MILK AND OTHER WONDERFUL FOODS WE ONCE KNEW---

He thinks about dog-wood trees near the house blooming in the spring-- he thinks about his fishing tackle that's probably so rusty now that the reel won't turn--

He thinks about his golf clubs and wonders if he could ever break a hundred again-- Well, Joy, those are just a few of the little things I think about but they aren't exclusive thoughts

MILLIONS OF OFFICERS AND G.I. JOES ALL OVER THE WORLD THINK THE SAME THING AND I PRAY TO GOD THAT THEY'LL ALL BE HOME SOON SO THEIR DREAMS CAN BECOME A REALITY---

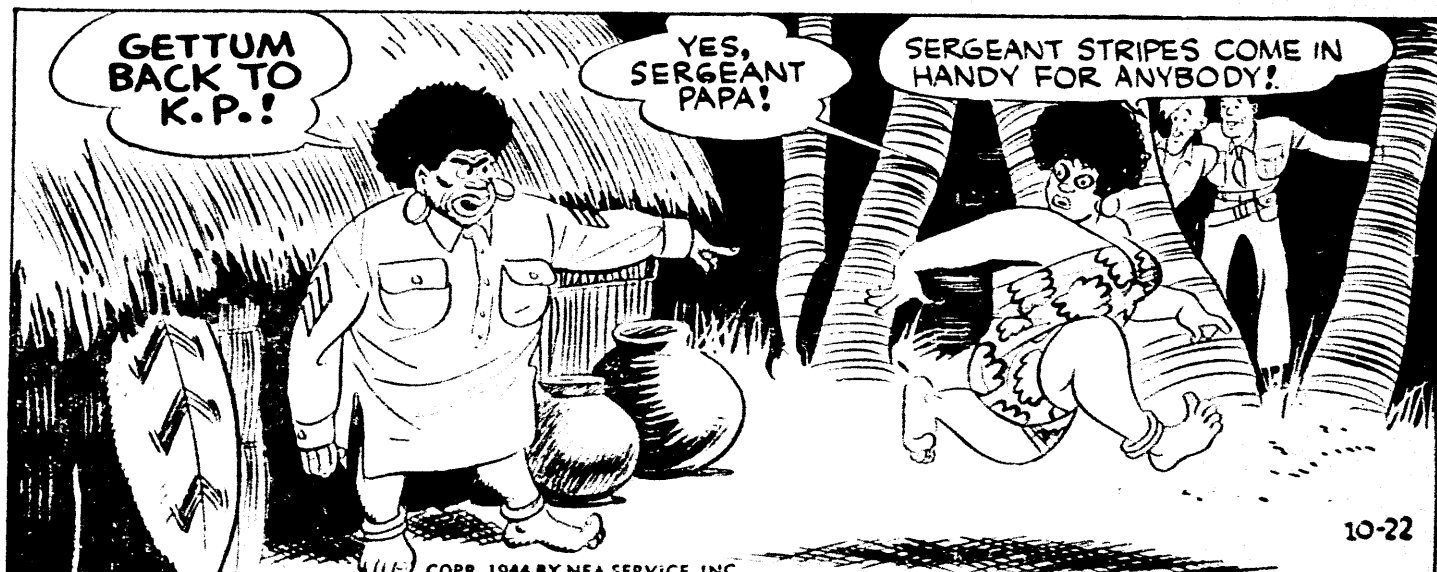

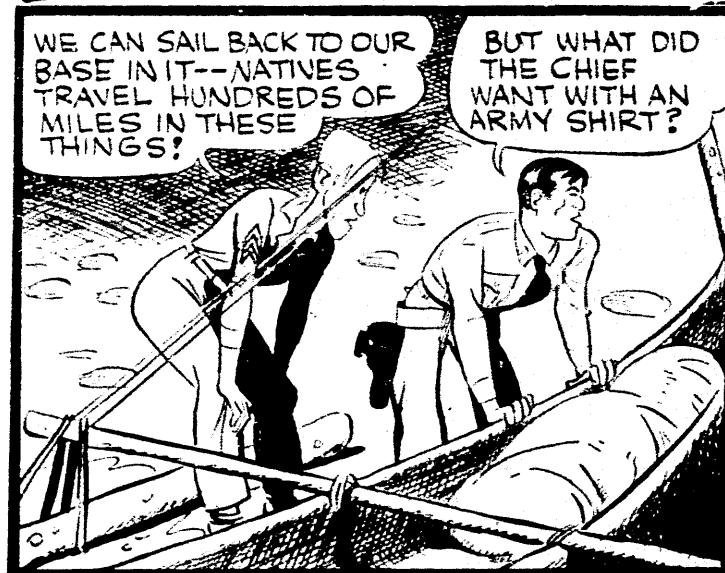

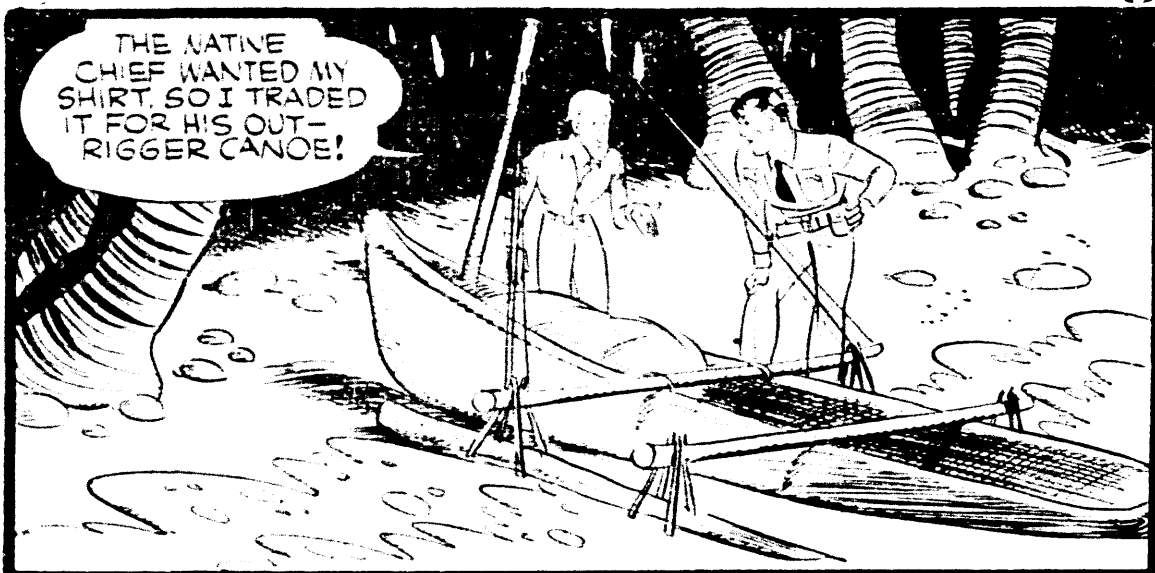

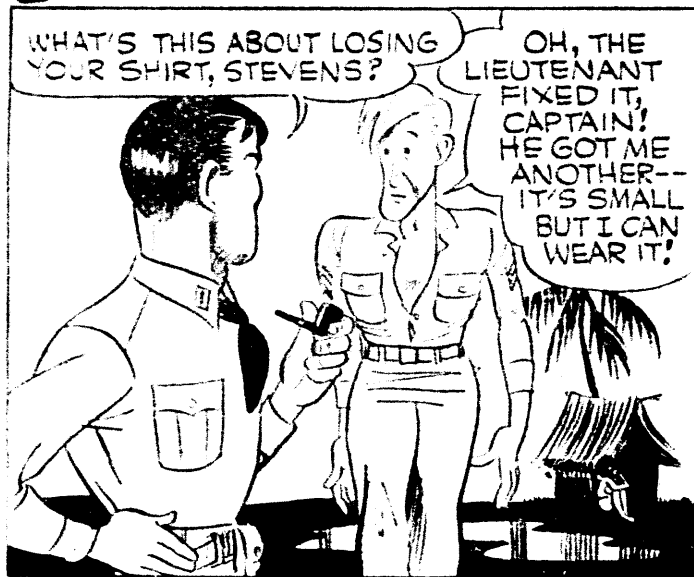

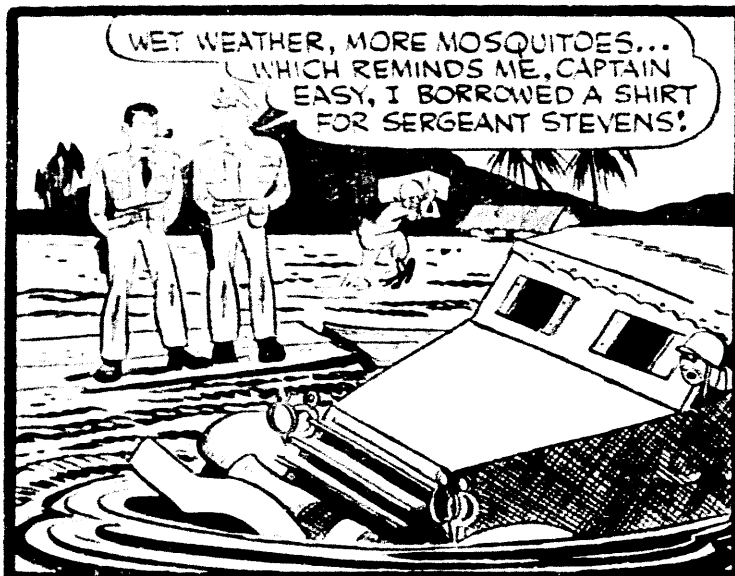

Well, Joy, I know there's no mail service where you are-- you'll never get this letter but, sweet heart, it sure helped me to get it out of my system even if the best I could do was tell it to a piece of paper

ALEX RAYMOND

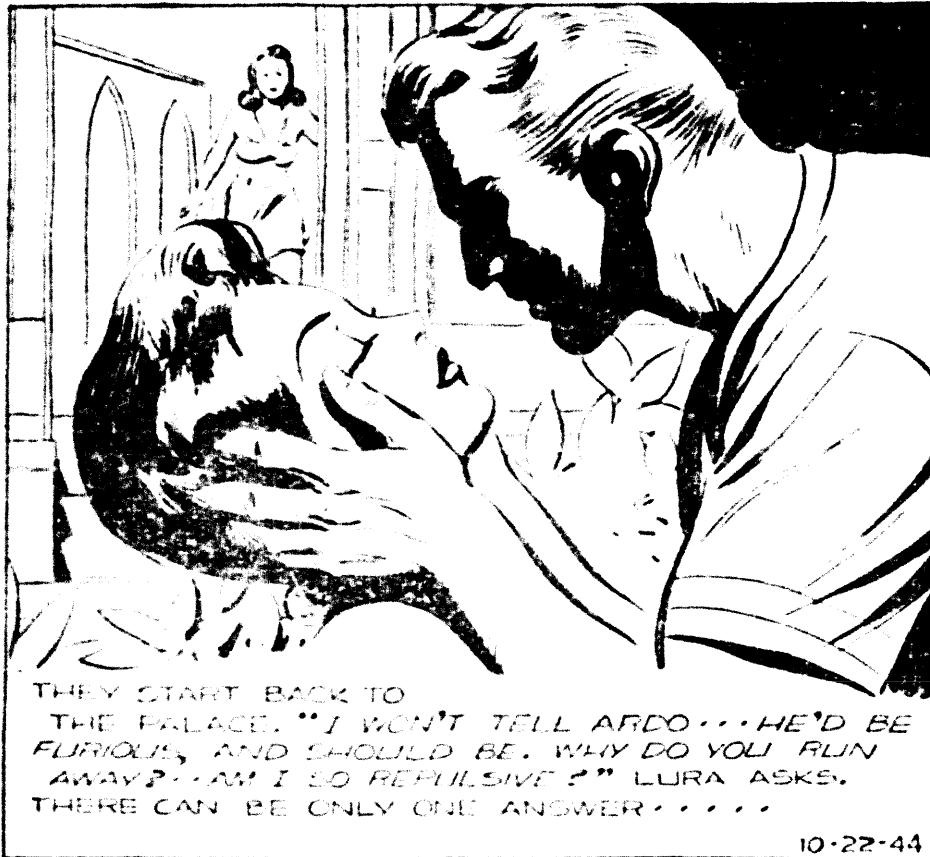

FLASH'S SIXTH SENSE OF DANGER WARNS THAT HE'S BEING WATCHED. INSTANTLY HE DODGES AROUND THE GARAGE CORNER.

WHIRLING IN HIS TRACKS, HE CATCHES HIS PURSUER IN A GRIP OF STEEL, CHOKING OFF ANY POSSIBLE OUTCRY....

SUDDENLY FLASH REALIZES WHOM HE HAS CAUGHT. "LURA! TAO, FORGIVE ME. I MIGHT HAVE KILLED YOU!" SHE ANSWERS FAINTLY: "YOU ARE SO STRONG, MY FLASH... YOU HAVE QUITE CONQUERED ME!"

THEY START BACK TO THE PALACE. "I WON'T TELL ARDO... HE'D BE FURIOUS, AND SHOULD BE. WHY DO YOU RUN AWAY?... AM I SO REPULSIVE?" LURA ASKS. THERE CAN BE ONLY ONE ANSWER....

"I KNEW I HEARD SUSPICIOUS SOUNDS OUTSIDE," ARDO SAYS. LURA LAUGHS SHAMELESSLY. "WHAT'S SO STRANGE ABOUT OUR STROLLING IN THE MOON-LIGHT?" AND FLASH IS RELIEVED, BUT SECRETLY TRILT WHEN DALE SHOWS NO SIGN OF JEALOUSY.

Tarzan

PROCLAMATION

EMIN-NAGRA ISSUED A PROCLAMATION TO BE SPREAD FAR AND WIDE, THAT THE CIRCUS OF BAKHIR WOULD BE HELD THE FOLLOWING WEEK.

THE HERALDS WENT FORWARD IN ALL DIRECTIONS TO SUMMON THE PEOPLE TO THE CITY FOR THE GALA DAY.

BEHIND THE HERALDS CAME COLUMNS OF SOLDIERY, HARDENED, TOUGH ADVENTURERS-----

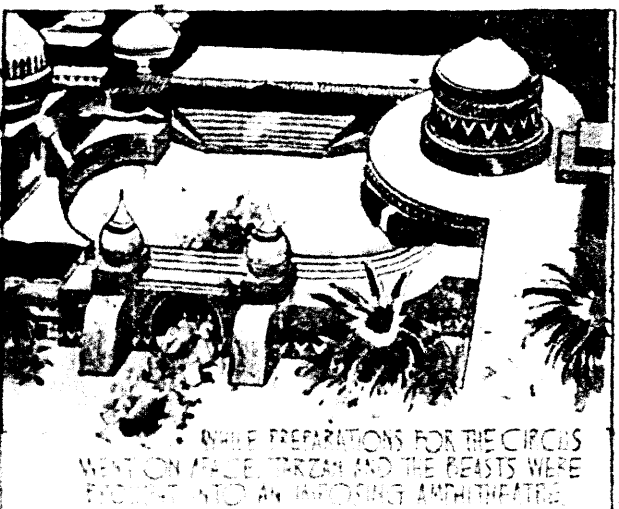

--CONVOYED BY ROARING TRUCKS AND MECHANIZED MIGHT, GERMAN EMISSARIES OF GLOBAL WAR!

THEY WENT TO SEEK THEIR HONEY, THE OIL OF THE DESERT, THE LIFELINE FOR OIL.

SOME THERE WERE, WHO SUSPICIOUS OF THE EVIL HORDE, RESISTED THE INVASION OF THEIR LANDS. THEY WERE QUICKLY DISTASTED.

WHILE PREPARATIONS FOR THE CIRCUS WENT ON, TARZAN AND THE BEASTS WERE BROUGHT INTO AN IMPOSING AMPHITHEATRE.

THERE BELOW THE STADIUM THEY WERE QUARTERED IN IRON PENS TO AWAIT THE GREAT DAY.

THE APE-MAN WAS ALLOWED TO MOVE ABOUT FREELY.

HE SPENT HIS TIME CALMING THE BEASTS, FOR, AS NO OTHER MAN, HE UNDERSTOOD THEIR RESTLESS SPIRITS.

"WHY ARE YOU HERE?" HE ASKED. "WE RESISTED THE FOREIGNERS WHO CAME TO STEAL OUR LANDS!" THEY ANSWERED.

TARZAN WAS WROTH IN HIS MIND. A PLAN WAS FORMING. "BE PATIENT!" HE ADVISED. "WHEN THE TIME COMES, WE SHALL STRIKE A BLOW FOR FREEDOM!"
